ADVOCATES OF PEACE HAVING MORE TROUBLE

National Convention Barred By Many Cities In the West

DAKOTA EXECUTIVE OFFERS PROTECTION

Delegates Escorted From Hotel to Depot Are Ordered From Town

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Minneapolis, Aug 31.—Leaders of the People's Council of America announced here today that they would start for Washington, D. C., tonight to put the question of their right of holding a national peace convention up to the federal authorities. In case a hall cannot be obtained there, it was suggested that the meeting might be held on the plaza in front of the capitol.

The decision to put the issue up to official Washington was announced by Louis P. Lochner, executive secretary, after a morning of conferences with eastern council leaders over the long distance telephone. Early tentative plans had been made for holding the meeting in Milwaukee.

Reports were that the council committee had been advised by their representatives in Milwaukee that the meeting would result in violence if held there.

"We have done with temporarizing," said Mr. Lochner, "we have been denied our rights in Minnesota and the mayor of Hudson, Wis, has thrown us out without even a hearing. There must be an immediate accounting."

Western-bound delegates have been advised to proceed to Washington.

Following is the committee's statement:

"The people's council has been denied its right of lawful assembly under the United States constitution by an un-American governor of Minnesota. There is no time to enforce this right in the courts. Constitutional rights of the people are being similarly denied in every state in the Union. One of the chief purposes of the people's council is to resist this tendency toward Prussianism, and to uphold the constitutional liberties and rights of the people of the American republic.

"Therefore, the executive committee has decided to transfer its meeting place from Minneapolis direct to the national capitol. The government of the District of Columbia is in the controll of congress and if our rights are denied us in Washington they will be denied us by the United

OLD SOLDIERS AND CHILDREN AT THE STATE FAIR TODAY

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Columbus, Aug. 31.—Ohio,s sixty-seventh annual state fair closes today and fair officials are congratulating themselves that this year's exposition was far greater than any of the others held in the past both in attendance and exhibits.

Old soldiers and children hold sway at the fair today—both being given free admittance and allowed special privileges. Thousands of childrens and hundreds of civil war veterans were at the ground early this morning seeking admission even before the gates were opened.

A feature at today's fair was the concerts by the boys industrial school band from Lancaster.

MINT TURNING OUT MANY SMALL COINS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Philadelphia, Aug. 31.—Completion of the presidential medal of Woodrow Wilson was announced yesterday by A. M. Joyce, superintendent of the U. S. mint in this city.

It is a three inch bronze piece. The president did not give them a sitting until just before his second inauguration last March and the piece has just been completed.

The mint received a rush order for one million half dollars to supply the persistent demands of subtreasuries in parts of the country for small coins. Although between 80,000 and 100,000 half dollars, the same number of twenty-five cent pieces and from 100,000 to 120,000 five cent pieces are being turned out daily it has been found impossible to meet the demands.

DRUG CLERKS FINED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Toledo Aug. 31.—Two druggists and three drug clerks, arrested on complaint of State Inspector H. A. Mohler, were fined $20 and costs today in the court of a justice of the peace. The druggists, Loertscher and Haley, were accused of permitting unlicensed pharmacists to sell poisons during the absence of the proprietor. The three clerks pleaded guilty of selling poisons without having pharmacists licenses.

FINANCIER WINS ARMY COMMISSION

Major Grayson M. P. Murphy.

Grayson M. P. Murphy, who was one of the successful candidates at the Plattsburg first officers' camp, is vice president, of the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York. He has been made a Major of the Infantry.

BUREAU TO ASSIST IN REPLACING MEN WHO WERE DRAFTED

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Columbus, Aug. 31.—Fred C. Croxton, head of the labor division of the Ohio war board announced that all the state labor employment bureaus will do all possible to help employers replace men called for the selective service army. In his statement, he urged that employers use the drafted men to the last minute, calling attention to the fact that but a small portion will be required to report at Chillicothe the first week in September.

Machinery of the state defense council and of state offices will aid the government in any problems wherein assistance can be given in taking care of the selective service cantonment at Chillicothe. Aid will be given especially in purchasing supplies. The help was solicited by Lieutenants Henry T. Hunt and E. S. Manson, Jr., who came here as members o fthe intelligence staff of General Glenn, commander of the cantonment.

Lieutenant Hunt is former mayor of Cincinnati and Lieutenant Manson was a professor of astronomy at Ohio State University.

Recently state aid, including help of traffic experts of the public utilities commission, was given to get 75 carloads of lumber on short notice from Columbus dealers for the cantonment.

DARING ATTACK OF GERMAN SUBMARINE ON A BIG FREIGHTER

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

An Atlantic Port, Aug. 31.—a daring attack by a German submarine on a big British freighter convoyed by a destroyer, the u-boat coming so close to fire a torpedo that guns could not be trained on her was reported by members of the gun crew who arrived here today on the ship. The attack occurred about 500 miles off the coast of Ireland, when the freighter was bound for the United States. The first indication of an enemy's presence was the sudden swerving of the destroyer across the bow of the merchantman. The next moment a torpedo flashed straight at her bow, a quick twist of the steering wheel, turning the vessel sufficiently to dodge the missile.

The gun crew stood ready to fire at the first ripple, but to their amazement the u-boat emerged almost alongside the ship, so close that the freighter's gun could not be depressed enough to cover her. The destroyer was unable to fire because the freighter screened the submarine which disappeared beneath the waves without attempting to fire a shot.

STRIKE AS PROTEST AGAINST THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Paris, Aug 31.—Workmen in the Swiss cities of Berne, Zurich and Basel went on a half-day strike yesterday as a protest against the high cost of living, says a Havas dispatch from Basel. The manifestation was organized by Socialists who, the dispatch adds, declare that if it does not produce results, a prolonged strike, involving municipal services such as gas and electricity, will be ordered.

WHEAT PRICE IS FIXED AT $2.20 BY COMMITTEE

Food Administration Now Promises Cheaper Bread

SCALE IS APPROVED BY THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Labor Wanted $1.84 and Farmer $2.50 But Compromise Was Made

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, Aug. 31.—A reduction in the price of bread is in sight today as the result of the fixing of $2.20 as the price per bushel of the 1917 wheat crop. The licensing system for flour and bread dealers soon will be put into effect and, although not extending to the small dealer, the food administration is expected to find a way to hold down bread prices.

Members of the price fixing committee are agreed that a price of $2 20 will permit of a fourteen ounce loaf of bread for five cents, allowing a fair profit to both the flour manufacturer and the baker.

The wheat price was announced by President Wilson last night after the committee, headed by Dr. Harry A. Garfield, completed its three days' deliberation.

Representatives of the producers began by voting for $2.50 and labor representatives for $1.84. The $2 price set by congress for the 1918 crop was taken into consideration by the committee in fixing a fair valuation for this year's harvest.

On the basis of $2.20 at Chicago, the food administration worked out differentials for the various grades and classes for the several grain terminals.

During the last ten years the highest average price paid to producers for wheat was the June 1 price, 1917, practically $2.49 per bushel. Up to the present time the price has ranged between a minimum of 76 cents paid in December, 1912 to the above maximum.

The price has been mounting steadily but never has such a high level been reached and maintained as since the outbreak of the war. The farm price went as high as $1.23 a bushel in June 1909, receding till it again took an upward curve in 1915, reaching practically $1.30 a bushel in February but declining to 90 and a fraction cents in December of that year.

The average has not gone below that mark since December, 1915. Wheat opened at $1.02 and a fraction in 1916, falling to 93 cents in July and closing the year with a

WILL REPRESENT FOOD BOARD IN UNITED KINGDOM

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

London, Aug 31.—Louis P. Sheldon, who is associated with a London banking firm, has been asked by Herbert C. Hoover to accept appointment as representative of the American food administration board in the United Kingdom. It is understood that Mr. Sheldon has accepted and it is now being determined whether he shall become an attache of the American embassy.

As Mr. Hoover's representative Mr. Sheldon will deal with the British food controller, Baron Rhondda, for the purpose of bringing about close co-operation between the United States and England in regard to the control of food. Mr. Sheldon, who is a Yale graduate, for some time has been assisting the commercial attache of the embassy, overseeing shipments of certain raw materials to the United States.

CASH SECURED BY YEGGS IN CANTON

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Canton, O., Aug. 31.—The safe in the office of the Canton Produce Company, Cherry avenue and Second street, N. E., was blown last night and nearly $700 in cash and $1300 in checks stolen. The safe cracking was not discovered until employes of the company came to work this morning.

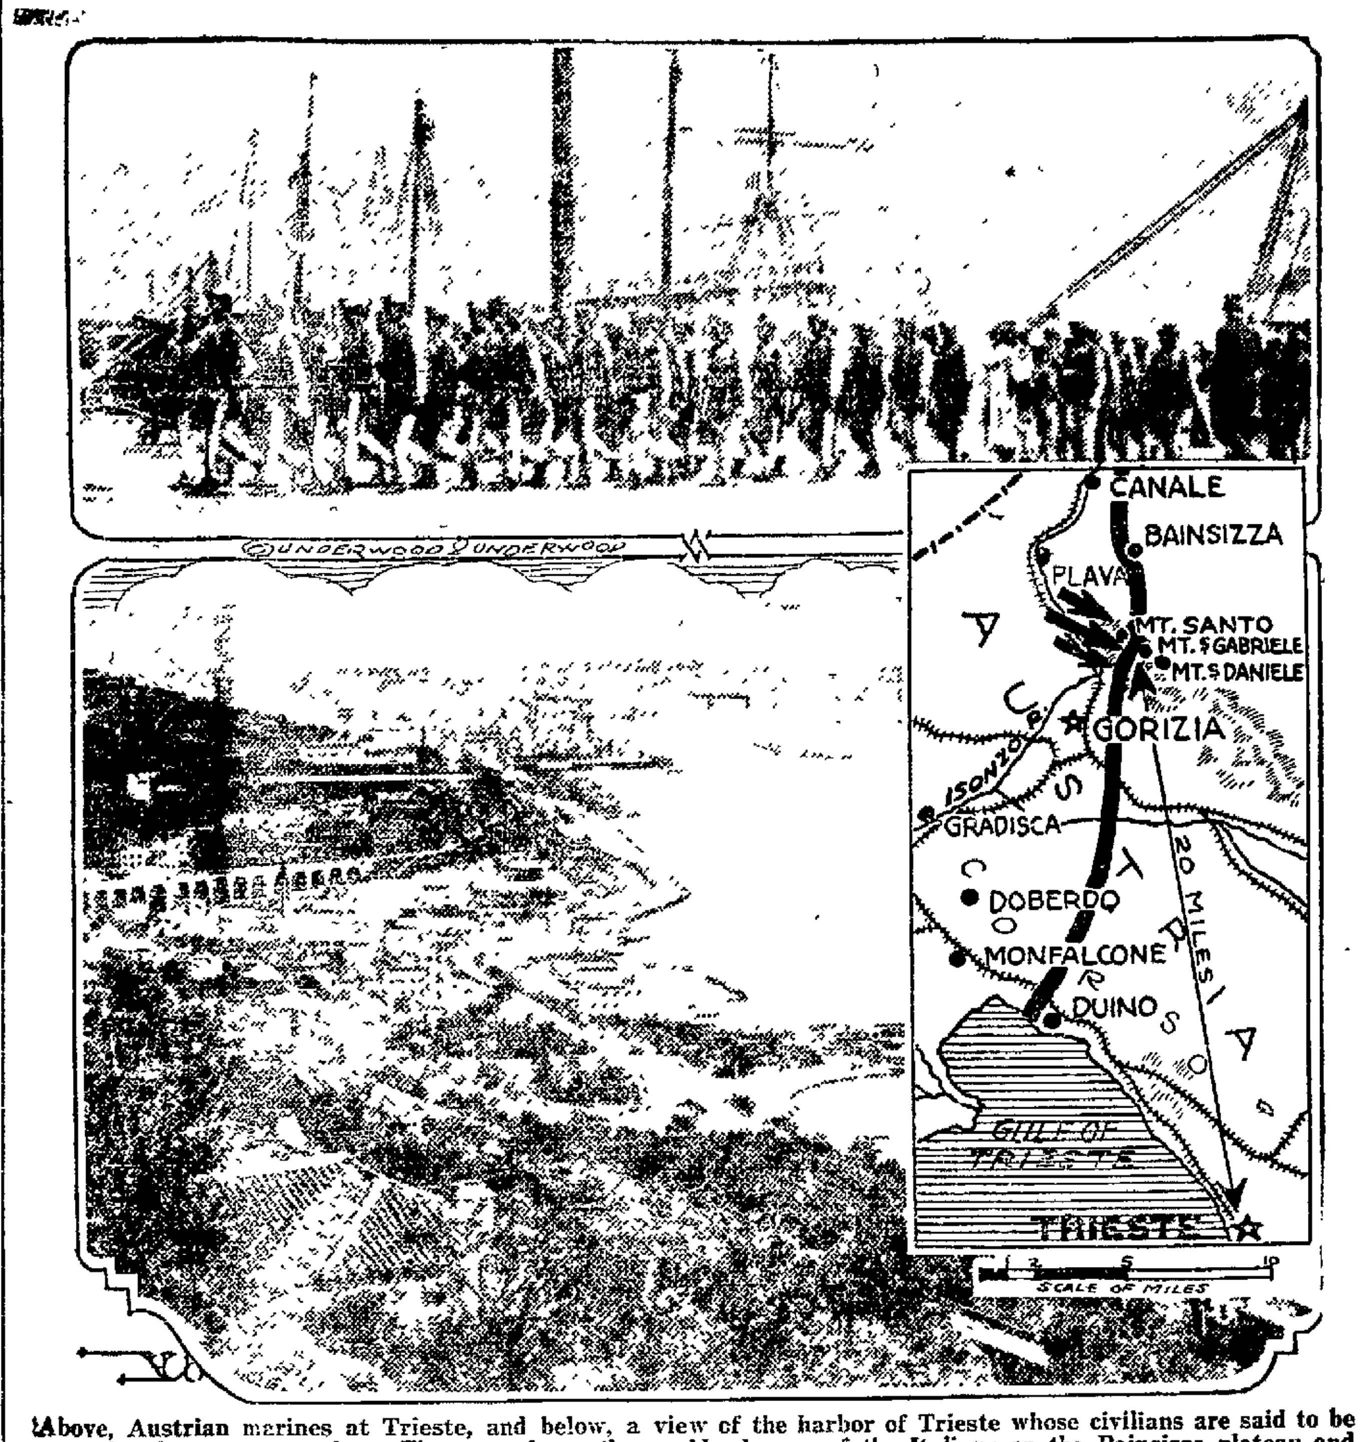

The robbers drilled through nearly an inch of steel at a spot below and between the combination and the handle of the safe door. Nitro glycerine was poured into the hole and the explosive set off. Newspapers were piled on top of the safe and a number of cloth sacks were also hung over the safe to deaden the sound of the explosion.

FOREST FIRES CHECKED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Missoula, Mont., Aug 31.—Forest fires have been checked in every district in western Montana, according to forestry officials who said the situation today was better than it had been for the last two weeks. The Lolo Springs fire was reported under control, as was also the fire in the Flathead river district, where timber was threatened.

ITALIANS CONTINUE ADVANCE ON TRIESTE, OBJECTIVE OF THEIR TREMENDOUS DRIVE

Above, Austrian marines at Trieste, and below, a view of the harbor of Trieste whose civilians are said to be planning an evacuation. The map shows the rapid advance of the Italians on the Bainsizza plateau and further south in the Carso region they are also taking important positions.

Despite the desperate efforts of the Austrian forces to withstand the tremendous offensive of the Italians the latter have gone rapidly forward and have secured positions that greatly endanger the Austrian hold on Trieste, the objective of the Italian drive. The Italians now dominate the plains beyond Gorizia and have threatened the Austrian lines of communication with their advances on the Bainsizza plateau. Civilians are said to be evacuating Trieste although it is unlikely that the Italians will bombard the town, as much of its property is owned by fellow countrymen.

TAKE INVENTORY OF FOOD SUPPLIES FOR FUTURE REGULATION

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington Aug 31.—A volunteer army made up of 10,000 American housewives, 350,000 merchants and 35,000 farmers, is today engaged in taking an inventory of the nation's food supplies. They are taking stock of the food they have on hand, in the pantry and preserve closet, on the shelves and under the counter, in warehouse and grain elevator, and in barns and bins on the farm.

From the quantities reported by these the bureau of markets will estimate the total food stocks of the nation. In addition, the housewives are going to give a record of their food needs for the subsequent week; another inventory will be made after the crops are all in, and these figures will form the basis of subsequent food regulation and distribution.

As soon as the returns from today's inventory are complete they will be forwarded to Washington for tabulation and the result will be announced later.

BANDITS IN THE PAYROLL ROBBERY HELD BY POLICE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Chicago, Aug 31.—With three of the men said to have been implicated in the payroll robbery at the Winslow Brothers plant here Tuesday when two express messengers were killed, under arrest, police said today that they know the names of the remaining two men, and expect to have them in custody by night.

The arrest late yesterday of Edward Wheed, ex-convict and counterfeiter, clears up the matter materially, they say. Wheed was arrested after a spectacular battle in which he opposed single handed nearly 500 policemen for two hours, finally surrendering when he ran out of ammunition. Three policemen were wounded in the exchange of hundreds of shots.

After the arrest of Wheed, $1,010 in gold was found in the house where he made his stand. Several hundred dollars is also said to have been found wrapped around his legs. Wheed said that the money had been handed to him by an ex-convict, who asked him to keep it for him for a few days.

Wheed was arrested after the police had received information that a man known in the underworld as "Ammunition" was exchanging gold coin for currency. The prisoner admitted that the name applies to him.

In the search for the bandits the police have arrested more than fifty men many of whom, they say, have criminal records. Three of them, Wheed, Charles Carro and Anthony Cosimo, are charged with murder in connection with the death of the two messengers.

WOMEN ON TRIAL FOR GIRL'S MURDER

St Johnsbury, Vt., Aug. 31.—The trial of Mrs Alvan Kennaston, jointly indicted with Miss Etta May [illegible] and John Kerwin for the murder of Alice Bradshaw, [illegible] years old, was opened here today. Kerwin pleaded guilty yesterday of being an accessory after the fact and his sentence was deferred.

The little girl disappeared early in July and her body was not found until a month later. The three persons indicted were arrested shortly after the child's disappearance and the authorities announced that the two women had confessed that they killed Alice because Miss [illegible] [illegible] for the girl's father [illegible] was tired of caring for the child [illegible] crippled [illegible] infantile paral[illegible]

WHEAT PRICE IS ACCEPTABLE TO OHIO GRANGERS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Columbus, O., Aug. 31.—The price of $2.20 a bushel for the 1917 crop of wheat, delivered at Chicago, fixed by President Wilson, is acceptable to the 70,000 Ohio grangers, George E. Scott, executive chairman of the Ohio State Grange wired L. J. Taber, grange master for the State Grange Association and member of the wheat price-fixing committee at Washington, several hours before the figures were announced yesterday that $2.11 a bushel for Ohio wheat, at the farm, would be an acceptable rate.

Mr. Scott was speaking for all of Ohio grangers, he said. "Allowing for a cost of 9 cents to cover shipment expenses to Chicago elevators," Mr Scott said today, "the figures of $2 20 fixed by President Wilson coincides with the grangers price." The price mentioned by Scott would apply to the remainder of the 1917 yield, comprising winter and spring wheat.

HIGHWAYMEN HOLD UP LABORERS AS CROWDS PASS FROM THEATRES

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, Aug. 31.—Three highwaymen, operating in the Times Square district of Broadway, the center of New York's night life, shortly after midnight held up a number of subway laborers while crowds coming from the after theatre cafes passed within a few feet. The robbers, who obtained $97, confronted the laborers, who had just been paid off and were going off duty as they came from the tunnel where they had been working. One of the laborers who started to resist was felled with a blow from the revolver of one of the highwaymen. The holdup men made their escape.

ASK AUTHORITY TO ISSUE GOLD NOTES

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Columbus, Aug. 31.—The Hocking Valley railroad today asked the state public utilities commission for authority to issue $5,000,000 in six per cent coupon gold notes to pay for and refund an issue of two year five per cent gold notes amounting to $4,000,000, maturing Nov. 1, 1917 and also to provide funds for the acquisition of property and improvements of the service. The proposed issue of gold notes would run for one year maturing Nov 1, 1918. It is to be sold for 98½ to the Equitable Trust Company of New York. The hearing has been set for Sept 10th.

HAIG REPORTS REPULSE OF A GERMAN RAID

Which Was Made On British Front Five Miles Below Lens

WEARING DOWN PROCESS HAS EFFECT ON GERMANS

Infantry Battle at Verdun May Be Renewed In Near Future

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, Aug. 31.—None of three engagements now in progress on the fronts seem again to have got into full swing. General Cadorna, whose great drive for Triest is perhaps the most spectacular of the current operations is displaying an activity more pronounced than either General Petain or General Haig in their respective fields at Verdun and in the Arras-Flanders areas. Even the Italian commander, however, apparently is in the midst of one of the pauses characteristic of virtually the great drives against strongly fortified positions in this war.

On the front below Lens General Haig reports the repulse of a German raid on the British line five miles southeast of the city. No mention is made of the activities on the British side but London war office intimations are that the artillery battle is being carried on in virtually continuous form in preparation for the next forward thrust with every indication that the wearing down process is having its due effect on the Germans.

General Petain's report indicates the possibility of a speedy renewal of the infantry battle at Verdun. The artillery on both sides of the Meuse is actively bombarding the German lines. The Germans has shown some activity in Alsace, making an attack near Hartmannsweiler-Kopf which the French repulsed completely.

Although the British armies on the Franco-Belgian front were engaged in much notable heavy fighting during August, including the great attack of the Anglo-French forces in Flanders, the casualties were notably less than during July. The British figures for August given by London today, total 59,811 as compared with 71,832 for July, a falling off of more than 12,000. The casualties indeed have been on a descending scale during the entire period since the active campaigning season opened, the high mark being set in the May figures which totalled 112,233.

ENGLISH JEWS OBJECT TO NAME FOR REGIMENT

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

London, Aug. 31.—A deputation of prominent English Jews, headed by Lord Swaythling, visited the Earl of Derby, secretary for war yesterday, says The Daily Mail and urged the abandonment of the title "Jewish regiment" which had been adopted for the new Hebrew regiment recently organized. The deputation pleaded that 40,000 Jews now serving in the army were fighting not as Jews, but as British subjects and wish to continue to do so. Lord Derby agreed to the abandonment of the title and promised to give the regiment a new designation.

The Daily Mail adds that the decision was received with great regret by the promoters and organizers of the regiment.

WOULD END TRIAL TO AVOID EXPENSE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Seward, Alaska, Aug. 31.—Efforts were being made today to bring to an end by Monday the trial begun here yesterday of A. F. McLean, a government teacher at Nushagak, Bristol Bay, charged with the murder, January 21, 1916, of his native wife, because the government desires to avoid the expense of maintaining witnesses here through the winter.

Some of the witnesses brought from Bristol Bay would be compelled to remain this winter if the trial is not ended by Monday when a steamer leaves here on the last trip of the season to that district. The trial promises to be the most expensive in the history of the territory. Witnesses first were taken nearly 2,000 miles last fall to testify before the grand jury at Valdez and brought almost as far to testify here.

DEPOSED EMPEROR CAPTURED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

London, Aug. 31.—Lidj Jeassu, the deposed emperor of Abyssinia, who escaped from Magdala, has been captured, according to a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Jibuti, French Somaliland.

Lidj Jeassu is a grandson of the late King Menelik, who he succeeded in 1912. He was dethroned in 1916 by his aunt. A London dispatch of August 26 reported that the deposed emperor and his followers had defeated 300 of the government forces who had been trying to capture him for six months.

States government and not by the unpatriotic caprice of any local official.

"We have telegraphed our delegates to go to Washington and we will meet and organize our league for democracy and a democratic settlement of the peace terms in that city. If we cannot find a suitable building, we will assemble on the plaza in front of the capitol."

Executive committee members denied rumors that part of the delegation, supposedly headed for Washington, would drop off at Milwaukee or some points this side for a final attempt to meet in Wisconsin. It was reported one group would continue eastward as a ruse, so that leaders might discuss the proposed peace conference with Wisconsin officials without public interruption.

NAME MILWAUKEE AS CONVENTION CITY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Minneapolis, Aug. 31.—The people's council of America today served notice, through its executive secretary, Louis P. Lochner, that its peace conference program would be carried out despite difficulties encountered in obtaining a meeting place. Mr Lochner intimated that the meeting would be held in Milwaukee.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 31.—Barred from Minnesota by proclamation of Governor J. A. A. Burnquist on Tuesday, told that they would be unwelcome in Fargo, N. D., on Wednesday and unceremoniously escorted from Hudson, Wis., on Thursday, the arrangements committee of the People's Conference of America for Democracy and Peace, headed by Louis P. Lochner, executive secretary, was uncertain early today as to where the national convention would be held.

It is barely possible that some point in North Dakota will be selected. After the peace advocates had been asked to leave Hudson, Governor Lynn J. Frazier of North Dakota reiterated his statement that the council may hold its proposed peace meeting in his state and will be accorded adequate protection as long as speakers refrained from making seditious statements or pronouncements which might incite mob violence.

"The people of North Dakota are broad minded enough to permit freedom of speech," said Governor Frazier, "and I am still ready to provide the protection offered in my message of the council."

It is doubtful, however, if the convention will be held in Fargo. Mayor Steern has taken a firm stand against it, and Loyalty organizations of the city are out spoken in their opposition to it.

The appearance of the arrangements committee of the peace council in Hudson, Wis., yesterday aroused the citizens to a high pitch. Indignation meetings were held during the day, the committee on council passed an order forbidding the holding of the convention and at a mass meeting in the evening resolutions were adopted protesting against the convention and calling upon Governor Philipps to stop it.

Excitement ran high and from an orderly meeting there developed an unorganized mob which went to the hotel where the pacifist delegates were stopping, hustled them into an automobile and took them to the depot where they were put aboard a train for Minneapolis with orders never to return. Shortly after the pacifists were driven from the city a truckload of peace literature for the meeting arrived and it was at once made the object of another attack.

The driver, innocent of the situation tried to make terms with the crowd, but quickly learning its temper wheeled the truck around and started at breakneck speed for the interstate bridge, followed by a hooting crowd.

ASK GOVERNOR TO RECONSIDER ACTION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, Aug. 31.—The American Alliance for Labor and Democracy, among whose members are leaders in the American Federation of Labor, has sent a telegram to Governor John A. A. Burnquist of Minnesota, asking that he reconsider his decision not to allow the People's Council to meet in that state, it was learned today. The message said that the "menace of the people's organization was realized by the American Alliance, the members of which were anxious to meet those of the council and fight it out face to face." The telegram also said that such action would not give the pacifists any excuse to cry "suppression of free speech" and concluded:

"We have nothing to fear from open argument, it is only secret plotting that we fear."

KING OF RUMANIA DECORATES SOLDIERS

King Ferdinand of Rumania wearing common soldier's helmet decorating soldiers for bravery in battle.

Although little has been heard of the Rumanians since their country was conquered and overrun by the Germans last year, they are still doing occasional fighting. After a recent battle in which several of his men distinguished themselves for bravery, King Ferdinand pinned medals of honor on the breasts of the most brave. The Rumanian army has recently been reorganized, and some effective fighting in the near future may be expected.

A crowd was on hand at a hall, but when it was learned that Dolsen, representative here of the council, had been detained by the federal authorities, it dispersed in good order.

A number of posters which it is claimed violate federal laws were seized at Dolsen's hotel.

p. m. Brief stops will be made at Toledo and other points enroute.

Linley V. G. Gordon, of New York, southern organizer and a member of the general organization committee said the eastern delegates could not say where the convention will be held. He said a meeting of members of the executive committee will be held in Chicago this evening to decide the matter after conferring with Mr. Louis P. Lochner, executive secretary by telephone. Mr. Gordon said that the special train made several stops in New York state yesterday afternoon and evening and the delegates were given cordial receptions.

"Reports that this organization is financed by German gold are absolutely false," Mr Gordon said. "Every dollar raised for the support of this movement has been raised by popular subscription. The coming convention will be an organizing one. It is our hope to establish a permanent body advocating to be in continuous session in Washington until the close of the war."

BOARD HAS NOT YET SELECTED MEN FOR CHILLICOTHE CAMP

new high price of $1.60 and a fraction.

The average yearly price of No. 1 northern spring wheat in the Chicago market during the ten years, 1908-1917 was $1.26 per bushel, ranging between 91 cents in 1913 and $2.37 in 1917. During the same period the average yearly price paid to producers was $1.07 per bushel, ranging between 79 cents in 1915 and $2 in 1917.

DON'T MEAN THE RETURN OF FIVE CENT LOAF SAY THE CHICAGO BAKERS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Chicago, Aug. 31.—According to Chicago bakers and trade publications the fixing of $2.20 as the basic price for wheat will not resuscitate the old time five cent loaf which disappeared long ago with the sky rocketing of wheat prices. In fact, it was said that the reduction would merely permit bakers to continue in business without a loss, as it was alleged some of them had been doing.

Wheat traders notwithstanding the announcement of the government figures which go into effect tomorrow the first day of the new month continued their waiting tactics. Some confusion of opinion regarding the method of determining the prices for grades of wheat, not specifically mentioned in the government ruling was observed.

It was considered probably early that some wheat today would change hands at a premium over the government figures where the grain was wanted for definite use.

The government price is lower than figures paid yesterday for spring wheat which sold yesterday for $2.38 for No. 1 northern.

REGISTRATION OF WOMEN FOR WAR WORK DROPPED FOR PRESENT

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Columbus, Aug. 31.—Early proposals for a state wide registration of women for war work have been definitely dropped, at least for the present, according to word from the state war board, sent out by Mr. Josephine Zimmerman, chairman of the women's auxiliary committee of the board.

After the announcement, the board says "it is opposed to such registration on the ground it would tend to bring about an additional unnecessary influx of women into the industries.

"After conference with Washington concerns the plan is not advised under existing circumstances."

Akron, Aug. 31.—Auto bandits stole an iron safe containing about $100 in currency, a number of checks and other valuable papers from the Day drug store on the West side in the fashionable section of the city early this morning. The burglars removed a large plate glass from the front door of the store and took the safe out without arousing the police.

BLOODLESS BATTLE WAS BOMBARDMENT OF CHINESE CAPITAL

(Associated Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 28.—Although fully 10,000 republican soldiers participated in the bombardment of headquarters of General Chang Hsun, the monarchial leader in Peking, and 2,000 of General Chang's troops resisted the onslaught for about ten hours, less than 50 persons were killed and injured in the fighting.

Military officers stationed at the legation in Peking are at a loss to explain the small number of casualties in the fighting on July 12. Stray bullets fell practically all over the city and many small shells and shrapnel were exchanged by the contending armies. It is estimated that not less than a million shots were fired in all. The few casualties among the great number of persons exposed to the random firing is undoubtedly due to the fact that both sides were shooting into the air without thought of killing.

Many foreigners who saw the virtually bloodless battle which resulted in the overthrow of General Chang Hsun say both the monarchical troops and the republican forces held their rifles against their hips and shot into the air.

The firing began at 1:30 in the morning on July 12. Chang Hsun had his headquarters at his home in the imperial city about one mile directly north of the American legation. Chang Hsun's troops were scattered about his headquarters and outside the main gate a machine gun was placed in a great pagoda commanding the gate. A large detachment of Chang Hsun's troops also took refuge in the temple of heaven about one mile south of the main city gate.

The republican forces first shelled the temple of heaven. They then also directed shrapnel into the imperial city and struck Chang's headquarters with great regularity. Two airplanes flew over the city during the firing of the big guns, and foreign military observers say the direction of the firing was quite expert.

General Chang Hsun's headquarters became untenable about 10 o'clock in the morning and the general and his staff took refuge in the Dutch legation. Up to that time firing had been constant, spent bullets doing much damage to glass in the foreign quarters and forcing the residents to keep under cover.

After Chang Hsun had taken refuge in the Dutch legation negotiations were begun between the republicans and Chang Hsun's troops. It was not until 3 o'clock in the afternoon that terms were agreed upon. An hour later the firing ceased and normal conditions were resumed in Peking.

Chang Hsun's home was fired either by shrapnel or by his own troops and virtually destroyed. The machine gun which Chang Hsun's command had located on the pagoda outside the main gate kept up a constant fusilade for many hours but little loss was inflicted on the opposing soldiers who were returning about the streets in large numbers. Two rapid fire guns commanded by the republicans and supposed to direct their fire at the enemy guns in the pagoda by the main gate also kept up a fusilade for many hours but with no apparent effect upon Chang Hsun's gunners in the pagoda.

NEW UNDERTAKING PARLORS TO OPEN IN E. MAIN STREET

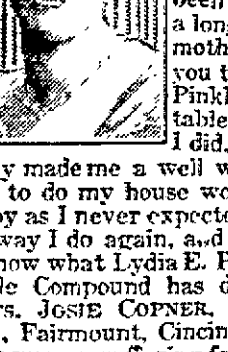

The Citizens Undertaking company of Newark was incorporated today at Columbus for $10,000, the incorporators being Clifford J. Stewart, J. W. Rutledge, A. W. Ryan, Perry A. White and Clifford Roney; all well-known local men.

The new company is being promoted by Clifford Stewart, a former employe of the Bradley undertaking firm, and it is the intention as soon as plans are completed to open a new establishment in the brick residence west of the new Ford garage, East Main street, carrying a full line of caskets and all undertaking supplies.

MOTHER SAID TRY IT

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Mrs. Copner after Doctor's Failed.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—"I want you to know the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was in such bad health from female troubles that I could hardly get off my bed. I had been doctoring for a long time and my mother said, 'I want you to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I did, and it has certainly made me a well woman. I am able to do my house work and am so happy as I never expected to go around the way I do again, and I want others to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me." —Mrs. Josie Copner, 1668 Harrison Ave., Fairmount, Cincinnati, Ohio.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from choice roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism

AT LAST RELIEF IS DISCOVERED FOR SNEEZERS

Pittsburg, Aug. 31.—Hay fever victims will rejoice, and the more exuberant of sufferers may be expected to sing peans of praise to express their joy at the announcement made here that at last a seasonable remedy for the troublesome malady has been found. The season for this form of malignant misery opened about a week ago.

To end your sniffles and sorrows, say the discoverers of the cure, all you need to do is to put on an overcoat and spend a half hour each day in a refrigerating plant, such as are found around hotels, meat storage houses and other mercantile establishments.

That hay fever disappears with the first frost has long been well known. Working on this lead, medical men here decided to try artificial frost, with the result, they say, that hay fever can be cured by "refrigeration."

The experiments made with the new "cure" was exhaustive, and a number of cases submitted themselves for the test. According to Dr. O. J. Bennett, city physician, a complete cure of the disease can be had if patients will spend a half-hour each day for a week in a dry freezer. Daily treatments are advised for several days after the disease has disappeared, to prevent a recurrence.

SPRAYING WILL KILL APPLE CATERPILLARS.

Spraying fruit trees with arsenate of lead will kill the yellow-necked apple caterpillars at work on them. Apple, pear, peach and cherry trees are commonly attacked, but often oak, beech, linden and chestnut trees are stripped of their leaves by this pest. Greatest injury follows attacks in young orchards.

Three pounds of arsenate of lead paste, or half as much powder, will poison the existing caterpillars. Hand picking can be resorted to on small trees.

CLIPPING PASTURES.

More and better grasses were noticed to result from slipping pastures after harvest in a survey made by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station. Briers are removed and the ripening of weed seeds is prevented, so that the grasses and clover have greater chances for growth. Where the mowing machine cannot go, a scythe may be used.

GET TANLAC NOW; HEALTH IS YOURS

Newark People Frequently Declare First Dose of Master Medicine Was Beginning of Their Recovery.

Tanlac builds health through the digestive organs. It quickly soothes and heals an irritated stomach; digestion becomes perfect, and every morsel of food is thoroughly assimilated. More and better blood and greater nerve force are the natural results. Good digestion, pure blood and strong nerves are the greatest essentials of health. Mrs. Ella Gregory, 126 Locust street, Newark, said Wednesday:

"I used Tanlac to overcome sour stomach, palpitation, bloating and nervousness. I was troubled with constipation, too, and Tanlac gave me immediate relief. It has improved my appetite and given me strength. I haven't a trace of stomach trouble now, in spite of eating heavy, hearty meals.

"My advice to all those who are afflicted with faulty digestion is to give Tanlac a trial and note the wonderful relief that follows. As for myself, I felt better after the first dose. I consider myself entirely free from stomach trouble now, and I have taken only one bottle of Tanlac. I feel better today than I have for years and know what to do to keep well in the future."

Tanlac, the new vegetable tonic, stomachic, appetizer, combatant, and invigorant, is being specially introduced at Ermans' Arcade Drug Store, where the Tanlac man gives the particulars to steadily growing crowds daily. Tanlac may also be procured at the Evans pharmacy, Warden Hotel bldg.; Hebron Drug Store, Hebron; P. H. Richardson's Pharmacy, Utica. Tanlac is a guaranteed preparation. (Advt.)

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Biliousness.

What is called "biliousness" is brought about by too great an intake of food and drink and not enough of outgo of energy and exercise.

As to the taking of calomel for "biliousness" a doctor says: "Calomel will give relief. So will aloes or any other purgative. But to charge the liver with responsibility is like overloading a willing horse and then abusing him because he cannot pull it all. Temporary relief can be had from twelve hours of hunger and purgation."

As to the cure of this condition the doctor says further: "The cure lies in readjusting the habits. The amount of muscle work done must be in proportion to the food taken. The amount of meat and eggs eaten must not be greater than is required to repair the waste in tissue from work, nor the amount of starches, sugars and fats greater than the requirements of heat and energy. If one must supply an overgrown appetite let him fill up on watery fruits and vegetables. If he wants to eat heavily of richer foods let him earn the right by working in the field or riding horseback. If he would escape constipation let him eat bran, fruit and vegetables. This constitutes the only royal road to biliousness."

FAKE WHEAT VARIETIES.

Fake varieties of wheat are frequently sold at extravagant prices, often with the claim that only one peck is needed to seed an acre. Tests made at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station show such statements to be fraudulent.

"Miracle" and "Marvelous" wheat has been so advertised. Both are now thought to be the same variety. "Miracle" proved inferior in yield at the Agricultural Experiment Station to such standard varieties as Gypsy, Fultz and Poole. "Marvelous" yielded 5 bushels less to the acre in 1913 than Mediterranean when seeded at the rate of 8 pecks per acre. It also yielded less than Poole and Fultz in 1915 when seeded at the same rate.

CORN CURED IN FIELD MAKES INFERIOR SILAGE.

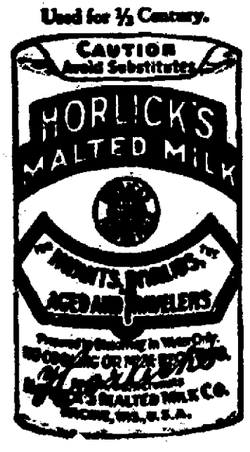

Corn cut and left in the field for a month before being put into the silo made silage inferior to that ensiled immediately after cutting at the Trumbull County Experiment Farm. The silage on top was in good condition, but it was not satisfactory lower down. Cows fed on silage made in the ordinary way and then changed to this feed fell in milk yield. When the silo was filled last fall, water was run into the blower with the corn and several inches of apple pomace put on top of the silage.

A fine musical program was rendered and short addresses made by Comrades Steele, King and Rosebrough.

PICK YOUR SEED CORN FROM STALKS IN FIELD.

Seed ears for next year's crop if selected in the field from standing corn may be chosen more wisely, be stored more carfully and will then produce a larger yield in return than if picked from the shock or crib.

Corn yields have been increased 3 1-4 bushels to the acre at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station by selecting seed in the fall from standing corn. The best ears grown under average conditions of stand and fertility can be picked out by such field selection. A good ear chosen at husking time or from the crib may owe its excellence to especially fertile soil or to the fact that only one stalk grew in the hill.

An ear equally good but grown on average soil and with three stalks in a hill will likely yield more when planted the next year. Such an ear may be marked in the field by a little paint or a string, and then separated from the others at husking time.

Corn left in a crib over winter is frequently injured by weather conditions and germinates poorly the next spring.

The Danger of Lying In Bed.

Lack of muscular exercise is the first result of lying in bed. As a result the appetite is weakened, the digestive action slows down and the muscles of the stomach and abdomen cease to act upon the intestinal mass. When the body is in a recumbent position the heart works with the least expenditure of effort and the least fatigue and the circulation and the functional activity are decreased. But unless the subject is exceptionally vigorous all the benefits are counterbalanced by dangers. In bed the subject is shut away from fresh air and sunlight. The result of that deprivation is a condition similar to anaemia. But the supreme menace to the weak or the aged confined to bed is the clogging of the pulmonary circulation, an action which frequently results in passive congestion of both sides of the lungs. For this reason the simple fracture of a bone may be the cause of death, because when the patient lies in bed there is no movement of the muscles to act as an incentive to deep breathing.

Filipino Women.

Women in the Philippines, from Filipino to Ifugao and from Kalinga to Moro, have a lot to say about the way things are run.

My first realization of the different status of Philippine womanhood came on the Pacific steamer on which I last returned to the United States. A young Filipino wanted to wrestle with some of the Japanese on board. But his wife was with him, and she feared she would lose a husband in the melee. She vetoed his desire with considerable ease and perfect effectiveness. If she had been a Chinese, Japanese or Indian of the same class her husband would have wrestled as long as he wanted to, or could, and the woman in the case would have kept her mouth shut. In Turkey a man doesn't mention his daughters. But in the Philippines in several cases I have observed that the woman holds the purse and the gavel.—Christian Herald.

Buy Now and Save Money On a Hudson Super-Six

Over 50 makes have already advanced in price. Hudsons, too, must cost more.

Nearly every make of car, except the Hudson, has lately increased in price.

Cars that sold at $1200 and $1400 now cost about as much as a Super-Six. Since January, 51 makers of automobiles have announced price increases amounting to $100 to $700.

The necessity of buying materials on today's market has forced these increases.

Steel costs five times as much as it did at the beginning of the war. Cotton, rubber—all items that enter into the manufacture of an automobile—now cost more than ever before.

Hudsons will cost more when the present stock of materials, bought last year at lower prices, is exhausted. There is no way of avoiding it. The price advantage that other cars once held no longer exists.

Hudson has been the most wanted car, regardless of price. It will be more popular than ever now that cheaper cars have advanced in price.

We know the number of cars from present material supplies that we are to get. At the rate of present sales present prices can not be continued long. Some models will be advanced in price within one month.

Now is the time to get a Hudson Super-Six. Have its use the remainder of the summer and throughout the fall. Save the money that delay will necessitate your paying for a Hudson.

HOW MONEY IS SPENT.

Subscribers to the recent $2,000,000,000 issue of Liberty bonds and intending subscribers to the second Liberty loan are interested in knowing just how the money obtained is used. A large amount of money is necessary to maintain the navy, which has been called upon to defend our coast and our commerce from attack.

To put the navy on a war basis every ship in reserve had to be fully manned and commissioned. Many auxiliary vessels also had to be added.

On April 6 there were 64,680 enlisted men; now there are more than 136,000. In addition, we have enlisted more than 35,000 reserves and there are 10,000 National Naval Volunteers in service.

Contracts have been placed for every destroyer and submarine-chaser that the shipyards of the country can build, and new records are expected in construction. All this is in addition to the 32,000-ton battleships, the five battle cruisers of 35,000 tons each, the largest and swiftest war vessels ever built; the six scout cruisers and many auxiliary craft for which we have made contracts. These will be built as early as possible but the right of way in construction is being given to destroyers and small craft.

Since the day war was declared the navy has patrolled our own coasts. For coast defenses scores of vessels have been secured—yachts, fishing vessels, fast motor boats, and other minor craft, and others are being added to this force as rapidly as possible.

The navy has sent to France a corps of aviators, who arrived on June 8, the first contingent of the regular armed forces of the United States to land on French soil. The Aeronautic Corps has been greatly enlarged, aviation bases established along the coast, and officers and men trained in the operation of seaplanes, dirigible balloons, and other types of aircraft. An additional appropriation of $45,000,000 has been asked for aviation.

About $80,000,000 is involved in the entire building program in our navy yards, training stations, submarine and aviation bases, the big storage warehouses we are building for munitions and supplies, the new shops, foundries, shipways, the huge dry-docks, and the various structures under way or provided for.

The Marine Corps has more than doubled in enlisted strength since the war began. On April 6 there were in the corps 426 commissioned officers and 13,266 enlisted men. It now has more than 28,000 enlisted men, only 1479 recruits being required to bring it up to its full authorized enlisted strength of 30,000. A force of marines has been landed in France for service under General Pershing, and the entire corps is eager for action.

NEED OF ECONOMY.

The United States is now at war. A large part of our country's human energy is taken away from the farms, factories, and industries of peace, and until the war ends all their energies will be devoted to fighting.

A great portion of our productive energy is being turned into the creation of implements of destruction. Many of our products are now being devoted to purposes of war. Destruction instead of construction is the object of a great portion of the country's energy.

As much of the human energy and productive capacity of the nation are now being devoted to the purposes of war, so should the proper amount of the money of the United States be so devoted. He who offers his life for his country is offering the greatest possible sacrifice, but the American men and women who support the government with their money are doing their part.

This war is going to be financed largely out of the savings of the American people during the war. It is not too great a sacrifice to make for one's country in time of war to deny one's self luxuries, to cut down unnecessary expenses, to lead quieter and busier lives. Not only will the money thus saved and used to buy Liberty loan bonds help the United States but the diminished consumption of food will do much to relieve the country from the strain of war.

The less the people use the less strain there is upon the productive capacity of the nation and the more can be devoted to winning the war; the more the people save the more liberal financial support can they give the government. This is the people's war, and it is to be financed by the American people, not by the rich and not by the poor, but by the rich and the poor, the capitalist and the wage-earner, the miner and the farmer and the manufacturer.

DEMOCRACY'S DUTY.

The plan for furnishing our soldiers and sailors life and indemnity insurance and allowances to dependent families, embodied in a bill now pending in Congress, seems to meet with the cordial appreciation of the people and the press of the country. Some extracts from editorials in various papers follow.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger:

"'When we draft the wage earner,' says Secretary McAdoo, 'we call not only him but the entire family to the flag.' This is the fundamental argument for the war-insurance bill now before Congress. It is the absence of any provision for those left behind which leads so many who would gladly give themselves to their country to ask exemption.

"When military service is obligatory other things are obligatory, too. 'The national conscience,' as the Secretary puts it, 'will not permit America's soldiers and their dependents to go unprovided with everything that a just, generous, and noble people can do to compensate them for the sufferings and the sacrifices' exacted from them. That has never been the American way.

"The aim of the war-insurance bill is to do justice to the soldiers without doing injustice to the taxpayers."

Under the title that heads this article the New York Times says:

'Not a dollar of the billions given to the deserving is regretted. If the proposed plan shall secure that only the deserving shall be carried upon the country's resources, even billions would be paid and leave still a debt unpaid. There can be no real money indemnity for death or disability. The feeling of duty done and appreciated by countrymen is all that can be offered against such suffering.'

The New York World calls army insurance 'A square deal for our fighting men,' and comments:

"What the chief industrial States are doing in insurance and compensation of workers in peace the Federal Government now proposes to do with its fighting men in war. No one could know what the old pension system would cost as applied in this war. Under this plan the cost will be known as we go along. Even-handed justice will be assured. Political and personal favor will go for nothing. There should be no doubt of its adoption."

The Richmond Times-Dispatch indorses the plan:

'Since the government has benevolently insured ships and cargoes, seamen and pilots engaged in perilous war enterprises, it seems eminently proper that officers and men of the army and navy, who run immeasurably greater risks, should be generously indemnified in case of maiming or death. The proposed legislation is designed as a substitute for postwar pensions, a circumstance which further commends it to us.'

The Atlanta Journal's closing paragraph of an editorial commending the plan is as follows:

"The needs anticipated by the bill are so numerous and the mantle of protection which it would throw about the country's defenders and their families is so broad that only an extensive review could do it justice, but its great principles really need no commendation. They speak for themselves, and they will appeal, we feel sure, to the mind and heart of Congress as they do to the mind and heart of the country. This deeply important measure, so typical of the Government's solicitude for the men it calls to the colors, should be pressed promptly to enactment."

To these may be added the indorsement of Colonel Roosevelt:

'It puts the United States where it ought to be, as standing in the foremost among the nations in doing justice to our defenders."

AMERICA'S CAUSE FOR WAR.

"The new German policy swept every restriction aside. Vessels of every kind, whatever their flag, their character, their cargo, their destination, their errand, have been ruthlessly sent to the bottom without warning and without thought of help or mercy for those on board, the vessels of friendly neutrals along with those of belligerents. Even hospital ships and ships carrying relief to the sorely bereaved and stricken people of Belgium, though the latter were provided with safe conduct through the proscribed areas by the German government itself and were distinguished by unmistakable marks of identity, have been sunk with the same reckless lack of compassion or of principle. * * *

"I am not now thinking of the loss of property involved, immense and serious as that is, but only of the wanton and wholesale destruction of the lives of noncombatants, men, women and children, engaged in pursuits which have always even in the darkest periods of modern history, been deemed innocent and legitimate. Property can be paid for; the lives of peaceful and innocent people can not be. The present German submarine warfare against commerce is a warfare against mankind."—Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States.

THE DOOR TO PEACE.

(Philadlphia Record.)

President Wilson's reply to the peace proposals of the pope adds to the official literature of the war one more imperishable document. In it the president sets forth, with characteristic clarity of vision, the consequences that would flow from an attempt to come to terms with a powerful and malignant adversary devoid of honor. He defines the purposes of the United States so that none who have the will to understand may misrepresent our position. Planting our own standard on the loftiest heights of altruism, he sketches the fundamental principles of an enduring peace to which no nation, friend or foe, will dare to take exception. And finally he shows that only the present rulers of the German people stand between the world and the consummation of such a peace. The reply to the pope shuts the door on peace with the kaisers, and opens it to peace with the Teutonic nations.

The little Americans who have been snarling at the president's heels, the hyphenated Americans who have been lending immoral aid to the immoral cause of the kaisers, the pacific Americans who value their own hides above personal or national honor, should join with other Americans in reading the reply to the vatican's peace message and learn to gauge the breadth and depth of the cause they have been trying to hinder. They will find in it a scathing arraignment of the accursed ambition that has bathed a continent in blood; but not a syllable of it will brook denial. They will find in it a concise statement of the objects of resistance to German military power to which the most critical can take no exception. They will find in it a deep and abiding sympathy with ALL the victims, within and without the central empires, of German autocracy; a generous renunciation of any hope of gain of any kind for the American people through the prosecution of the war, and an invincible determination to "make the world safe for democracy."

The German people are tacitly invited to participate in this undertaking. President Wilson does not attempt to prescribe for them a course of conduct, but in his respectful reply to the pope is an infallible signpost for their guidance:

"We cannot take the word of the present rulers of Germany as a guarantee of anything that is to endure, unless explicity supported by such conclusive evidence of the will and purpose of the German people themselves as the other peoples of the world would be justified in accepting."

It would be safe to assume that the president's message will not circulate freely in Germany until delivered there by enemy aeroplanes; but elsewhere it will be received with universal applause. The vatican's benevolent peace move has at least served to show how peace will one day be attained. The next move is up to the German people.

THE PRESIDENT'S REPLY.

(Columbus Dispatch.)

It has required a day or two for the full force of the President's reply to the pope to be appreciated. It came so direct from a great brain and a kindly heart, and was aimed so directly at an outlaw monarch, the first effect of it was one of awe. But it has now been read and reread, studied and analyzed, and committed to memory by thousands. It has now found a place in the hearts of the American people such as no other state paper has ever done.

And it is by all odds the plainest language ever used by a diplomat. It cannot be misinterpreted by any man who wants to interpret it aright. It is not susceptible of any double meaning. It bristles with hope and encouragement for the people of the world. It would end the war today if the German people were permitted to read it and allowed to understand it. * * *

The German people may have peace whenever they want it. The war will end whenever they want it to end. We shall ask nothing from them in the way of penalties for the outrages committed by their rulers. But we cannot make contracts with people who do not respect contracts; we cannot counsel with people whose word of honor means nothing; we can have no transactions with criminals; we must deal with the people of Germany themselves. That is all there is to the Presidents' reply, and it is all stated in language as beautiful and as clear as ever came from the lips of man. * * * But this paper will be discussed unto the end of the war and will never be forgotten. * * * Gradually it will reach the German people and soak in; gradually they will get hold of it someway; gradually the spirit of it will dawn upon them and when it does they will speak with the voice of freemen, and not as subjects of a war-mad monarch.

TO THE DRAFTED:

(New York Independent.)

To your fortunate ones who are about to go forward to that long battle line where the armies of autocracy and oppression are facing the armies of the free, congratulations and God-speed!

You go, not as reluctant victims of misfortune or a fatal chance, but rather as our chosen ones; the pick and flower of our manhood, whole of body, sound in mind and spirit—what all of us should like to be. And we who are too old or too weak, or in some other respect unfitted to go in body, shall go with you in spirit. We know that we ask much of you, and we expect much, for we expect things in keeping with our great traditions—things born of the spirit of Nathan Hale; but we know that we shall not be disappointed.

In imagination and in sympathy we shall be there with you on the firing line, and at home we shall do all that we can to make you comfortable and content. We shall pray that you may return in safety, but even more fervently we shall pray that your courage may not flag or the edge of your determination be dulled.

You are to fight in the noblest cause in which man ever took up arms, and for a nation the most generous in all the world to her soldier sons. You go with her blessing, for she trusts you; and be sure that whether you return or not she will hold your names in honor and grateful memory until the end of time.

Spirit of the Press

Let Him Resign.

If Senator Gore believes the people of Oklahoma are on the side of Germany, let him follow the advice of his constituents and resign. Then let him make the race for re-election on the public understanding that he will continue to stab his country in the back at every opportunity. If Oklahoma re-elects him on that issue the country will not be able to criticise the senator for the double act of betraying both the government and his constituents.

At least, he owes it to his constituents to allow them to pass upon his conduct in some way. He was elected to the present term on the understanding that he was an American. So were the other pacifist senators.—Kansas City Star.

Reed's Libels.

Not content with his numerous speeches in the senate in opposition to the food control bill, Senator Reed of Missouri is now distributing his attacks on Mr. Hoover through the mails—at no cost to himself. The most detailed account of the crimes of Hoover are thus within the reach of us all. But why should Reed continue to denounce Hoover as the enemy of the farmer? The new grain price-fixing board contains a majority of men who represent farmers' organizations and farmers' interests.—Springfield Republican.

Reputation Worth Having.

A man died up in Wisconsin the other day and a headline over the announcement of his death said: "Everybody Trusted Him." That was a great testimonial, infinitely greater than if it had been said of him that he had accumulated millions, or had given much in charity, or had been a man of political power, or had stood high in an honored profession.—Indianapolis State.

The Church and Peace.

Aside from the particular features of the peace proposal of the Pope this movement from the Vatican is of wide interest, as indication of the moral responsibility that religion holds for the wide civil order of the world. When religion shall cease to have a voice that may be respected in the matters of peace and war and in the composing of social and economic ills, it will have ceased to be the medium of the Almighty for the hastening of the coming of the kingdom of peace. Back of oft-tracked fields of materialism lies the vast unexplored realm of mysticism. At base the mystical appeal of religion must be the appeal that will hold over all material incentives and carnal provocations.—Baltimore American.

Liberty Bonds for Farmers.

A special effort will be made to interest the farmer in the coming Liberty Loan. Probably because of the lack of opportunity to conduct systematic publicity campaigns in the rural districts at the time or the first war loan the farmer did not invest in these bonds as freely in proportion to his means as the city worker. He will be asked to do so this time. Agricultural prosperity has been great lately and it looks as if it would continue so and millions of people in the country have money on hand or in prospect. If the American farmer wishes to keep up his reputation for financial shrewdness he will invest freely in Liberty Bonds, which offer the best conservative investment in the world, with virtual certainty of increased cash value when the war is over.—Ohio State Journal.

The Kaiser's Concern.

Just what is going on in the minds of the Kaiser, Ludendorff and Von Hindenburg is guesswork, of course, but there is a good deal of solid foundation for the guess that daily and hourly their anxiety is increased by the military preparations steadily going forward in the United States. In two months' time, it is asserted, Germany believes she will be able to gauge correctly just how much America can do, despite the submarine. If her chiefs decide that America is not able to wield her strength soon enough to be a vital factor, Germany will continue fighting. There is every indication that Germany is growing extremely nervous about the speed with which America is working. — Anaconda Standard.

Obituary

Mrs. Mary Toothman.

Mrs. Mary Toothman, wife of Austin Toothman, was born July 23, 1884, and died August 28, 1917, aged 33 years 1 month and 4 days. She leaves to mourn besides a loving husband, her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. John Porterfield of this city, also three sisters, Mrs. Cornelia Gienger, Bernice and Ethel, and four brothers, Harry, David, Raymond and James of Davenport, Iowa. Mrs. Toothman united with the Pine street church in the year of 1908, and was an active and loyal member even until she left the shores of time, though confined to the bed for a time her Master's active Spirit still abode with her for she gave evidence of it to the last preaching a part of her own funeral sermon, saying I have fought a good fight, I have kept the faith, I have finished my course, henceforth there is laid up a crown for me and for all who love him.

Mrs. Toothman will be greatly missed in all the departments of the church, and among friends for she made friends everywhere she went. Our loss is her eternal gain. 1t*

Our Boys and Girls

All children should love music for music in children that ideality which is one of the most precious possessors of childhood, and which we would fain keep in after life, which loves flowers and animals, which sees the truth in fairy stories, which believes everything to be good and is alien to everything sinister, which sees the moon and stars, not as objects so many millions of miles from the earth, and parts of a great solar system, but as lanterns being in the heavens.

Children who receive many toys often find them an embarrassment of riches. One wise mother has adopted this plan. All the new toys are placed in a large hamper and each night one is selected for each child to play with the next day. This is continued each day, the toy used being given up each night The plan is successful for two reasons; the children know that the toy selected will not come again for another week, so they make the most of it, and then they have the pleasure of wondering what the morrow will bring.

It is a good plan to have a regular hour for between-meal "snacks" which children never fail to call for and really need. Bread and butter sandwiches can be prepared before leaving the breakfast or lunch table while the materials are yet on hand. In this way the bits of jam and jelly that are apt to go begging are utilized. The sandwiches may be wrapped in wax paper and put where the children can get them themselves. Promptly at 10 and 3 they are called to have their bits, and the busy housewife may pursue her taske uninterrupted Toledo, Aug. 31.—The new government price makes little change from the present trading level for wheat in Toledo. Cash wheat No. 2 red, closed at $2.20 here yesterday. The scale fixed here for the first three grades of wheat, based on the government figure, is $2.22 for No 1; $2.19 for No. 2, and $2.16 for No 3.

Ohio farmers ought to get anywhere from $2.10 to $2.19, local grain dealers say. Flour men would not predict any reduction. Best brands were quoted at $12.60 today.

BEAUTIFUL WOMEN DOING THEIR MOST TO HELP ALLIES' CAUSE

If the inspiration of beauty will urge the Allies on a speedier victory their victory should soon be at hand. Mrs. Francis McLaren, whose husband is a lieutenant in the R. F. C. and served with distinction in the Dardenelles in 1915, is one of England's most beautiful women and she has been of great service at home since the first of the war. Lady Maud Cavendish, eldest daughter of the Duke of Devonshire, governor general of Canada, has been prominent in Canadian war charities.

Milady's Boudoir

Shaping the Mouth.

When we were babies we were taught to keep our fingers out of our mouths, but how we did love to suck our thumbs! There are many reasons for breaking ourselves of this habit.

First, the fingers, no matter how clean, always contain a number of germs, from handling all sorts of objects.

Secondly, the habit of holding the mouth or even chewing on the end of a pencil, or sucking the fingers, will tend to give it a very ungainly shape. We have all seen people whose mouths resembled that of a rabbit. When we were children they were allowed to suck their thumbs to their heart's content, and perhaps their mother gave them "baby comforters," to quiet them. Their little mouths soon became disfigured and all through life they will go with their teeth and mouth protruding in ugly prominence.

Every Day Etiquette

"Would it be proper to call on a friend while she is visiting someone with whom I am not acquainted?" inquired Mabel.

"It would be quite proper to call on your friend who is visiting someone whom you are not acquainted. You should ask for the hostess also and should leave a card with her," answered her aunt.

IMPROVED PRODUCTION.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, Aug 31.—Cotton production prospects improved to the extent of 450,000 bales during August and brought the estimate of final out turn to 12,499,000 equivalent 500-pound bales. That quantity was forecast today by the department of agriculture on the condition of the crop August 25 which showed a decline of 2.5 points compared with a ten year average of 6.6 points decline. Acre yield was forecast at 174.6 pounds compared with 166.9 pounds forecast from July 25 conditions.

Akron, Aug. 31.—Louis Naue, machinist, Altoona, Pa., was shot and instantly killed by V. N. Cross, an Akron patrolman this morning. Naue had been trailed to a cellar in a South Akron home following a quarrel with two waiters in a restaurant.

When the patrolman appeared Naue fired a bullet from a revolver but it missed and before he could fire again the patrolman had shot and killed him.

You can't always measure quantity. Even Niagara Falls is but a drop of water.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Boston, Aug. 31.—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow: "The demand for wool, aside from what the government has taken, has been only moderate, the past week. The government purchases thus far have not been heavy.
"Fair quantities of scoured wools, principally of quarter blood grades, have been secured. Manufacturers appear to be waiting the result of the publication of maximum prices by the government wool committee, having already covered fairly well for several months ahead. The goods market, except for further government contract awards, has been sluggish."

IMMENSE PLANS IN CARING FOR AMERICAN ARMY

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

American Field Headquarters In France, Thursday, Aug. 30.—A trip along the American lines of communication from the sea to field headquarters reveals in striking manner the immense plans which have been made to serve and care for the large army the United States hopes to have in France. In the making of these plans great reliance is being placed for the time being upon the French, whose ability and willingness to help the Americans seem to be wholly inexhaustible.
For the present, American army and navy aviators in France are studying in French schools, using French machines of all types. Scores of these aviators are now taking their instruction and will later join the French flying school. Later they may be transferred to the American army as they would form an experienced and helf reliant force for service when the American troops take their places in the line.
Many other American students who are training with the French are being instructed solely for service with the French army. Already they have had actual experience in flying, but army aviators are not breveted until they have flown a total of 25 hours. Naval aviators qualify after 15 hours of flights.
Three fliers have met death thus far. This is regarded as a remarkably light percentage. The French have been delighted with the aptness of their American pupils, who seem to have a natural bent for flying and learn quickly. Casualties in the aerial service are always heavy, especially when the men first go over the line into enemy country, but pilots and observers who survive the first week o rmonths of actual war-flying are considered of the greatest value, giving the corps its prestige and example in morale.

GROCERS AND BUTCHERS TAKING FOOD CENSUS.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Cleveland Aug. 31.—Twenty-three hundred Cleveland grocers and eleven hundred butchers today were taking an inventory of their stocks to be used in determining the quantity of foodstuffs now within the United States.
Leo B. Forst, department of agriculture agent, was in charge of the food census here.

RUMORS OF CHANGE.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Paris Aug. 31.—Owing to the repeated reports that Emperor William is contemplating a change in the status of Alsace-Lorraine, one of which is that it is to be transformed into a federal state, some importance is attached here to a Berlin dispatch received by the way of Basil saying that Dr. H von Dallwitz, governor of Alsace-Lorraine is now in Berlin.

STEAMSHIPS OVERDUE.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

A Pacific Port, Aug. 31.—Twelve sailing vessels and steamships were considered overdue at this port by shipping men, according to an announcement today by the Chamber of Commerce. The list includes the Wairuna, 2,530 tons, 51 days out of a New Zealand port, and the motor schooner Laura Whalen, 1046 tons, 65 days out of a Pacific port bound for the Orient.

REPORT ADVERSELY.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, Aug. 31.—Unanimous adverse report on Senator Hardwick's bill to prohibit sending drafted troops abroad without their consent was ordered today by the senate military committee.
Favorable recommendation was given Senator Fletcher's bill providing that enlistment of Americans with forces of nations at war against Germany shall not cause loss of American citizenship.

PREFER INSANITY CHARGES.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Columbus, Aug. 31.—Charges of insanity have been preferred against William Livinbroc, arrested at West Park near Cleveland, on charges of setting fire to a barn owned by Mrs. J. Burnett, according to information furnished the state fire marshal's office today.

GAIN ADVANTAGES.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Rome, Aug. 31.—Heavy fighting continues on the Bainsizza and Carso plateaus. The war office reports advantages were gained on Monte San Gabriele and in the Brestovizza valley and that 636 more prisoners were taken.

WILL APPEAL DECISION.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, Aug. 31.—The government will at once appeal the decision of Judge Boyd holding the federal child labor law unconstitutional. It probably will be expedited to get it before the supreme court at the coming fall term.

LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Greensboro, N. C., Aug. 31.—Federal Judge James E. Boyd today declared the Keating-Owen child labor law unconstitutional.

Paraguay's "Spider Lace."

Missionaries in Paraguay more than 200 years ago taught the native Indians to make lace by hand. Since that day the art has greatly developed, and in certain of the towns lacemaking is the chief occupation. Almost all the women, many children and not a few men are engaged in this industry. A curious fact with reference to the Paraguayan laces is that the designs were borrowed from the strange webs woven by the semitropical spiders that abound in that country. Accordingly this lace is by the natives called nanduti, which means "spider web."—Exchange.

When the baseball player is in low spirits he should refrain from pitching highballs to himself.

WILL NOT PERMIT STREET MEETINGS.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, Aug. 31.—No street meetings under the auspices of the Peoples Council of America for Democracy and Peace will be permitted in the national capital. The police department made this announcement today. The authorities at the capitol probably will permit no assembly in the plaza there. Officials today when asked for an opinion referred to the dispersal of Coxey's army when he it attempted to enter the capital several years ago.
This, they said, was a good enough precedent to govern the case.

ANTI-DRAFT TROUBLE.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Milwaukee, Aug. 31.—The attempted shooting of William H. Steiner, a representative of the department of justice, and an attack with an axe on Sheriff Kelner, near Manitowoc last night by a man named Voss, marked the first anti-draft trouble in Wisconsin. Voss is said to be the brother of a young farmer who was reported to have failed to register under the selective draft act. Voss escaped and officers were seeking him today.

HAVE NOT YET RECEIVED REPLY OF PRES. WILSON

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Berlin, Aug. 31.—The text of President Wilson's reply to the peace note of Pope Benedict has not been received in Berlin up to a late hour tonight. A dispatch from Holland, transmitting editorial comment of New York papers, is the only intimation at hand indicating the tenor of the reply.

POPE DISAPPOINTED
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Rome, Aug. 31.—It is stated at the vatican that Pope Benedict on receiving President Wilson's reply to his peace proposals did not attempt to conceal his bitter disappointment, and that he regards the president's answer to leaving little room for further peace efforts at present. It has been no secret here that the pope hoped for a more favorable response from the United States than from anywhere else.

CANNING RULES FROM U. S. Department of Agriculture

Salt Pickled Cucumbers.
(In Brine.)

Water-tight kegs or crocks may be used to hold pickled cucumbers. Wash thoroughly and steam the kegs or crocks. Do not use any yellow or pitch-pine containers.
Wash the cucumbers. On the bottom of the container place a layer of dill and a handful of mixed spice. Pack the container full of small cucumbers. Add a top-layer of dill and spice. Pour over enough weak brine to cover the cucumbers. Cover with a cheesecloth and a clean board cover. Place upon the board cover a clean stone weight sufficiently heavy to hold the cucumbers beneath the surface of the brine. Leave in a warm room until fermentation is completed and no bubbles rise to the surface, when the receptacle is tapped gently.
Skim off any scum found during fermentation. Store receptacle in a cool place. Cover the top of the brine with hot paraffin to form an air-tight surface. If the paraffin becomes broken, remove, remelt and replace.
To make weak brine: One-half pint vinegar, 3-4 cup of salt, 1 gallon water. Stir until salt is entirely dissolved.

Salt Pickled Corn.
(In Brine.)

Water-tight kegs or crocks may be used to hold pickled corn. Wash thoroughly and steam the kegs or crocks.
Husk, clean the silk from and wash the corn. Place the ears on end in the receptacle, packing same nearly full. Pour over the corn enough weak brine to cover the ears. Cover with a cheese-cloth and a clean board cover. Place upon the board cover a clean stone weight, sufficiently heavy to hold the corn below the surface of the brine. Leave in a warm room until fermentation is completed, and no bubbles rise to the surface when the receptacle is tapped gently.
Skim off any scum formed during fermentation. Store receptacle in a cool place. Cover the top of the brine with hot paraffin to form an air-tight surface. If the paraffin becomes broken, remove, remelt, and replace.
To make weak brine: One-half pint vinegar, 3-4 cup salt, 1 gallon water. Stir until salt is entirely dissolved.

Salted Corn.

Water-tight kegs or tubs, or crocks, may be used for salting corn. Do not use any containers made of yellow or pitch-pine. Wash thoroughly and steam kegs, crocks, or other containers to be used.
Husk the ears of corn and remove the silk. Cook in boiling water for 10 minutes. Cut corn from cob with a sharp knife. Weigh the corn. Use a quantity of salt equal to one-fourth weight of corn. Spread a layer of corn 1-inch thick in the receptacle to be used. Sprinkle heavily with salt. Continue adding layers of corn and salt, until the receptacle is nearly full. Cover with cheese-cloth and clean board cover. Place a clean stone for a weight on the board cover.
Set the receptacle in a cool place. If a brine to cover has not formed in 24 hours, pour enough strong brine over the corn to come up to the wooden cover.
As soon as bubbling, which will be slight, has stopped, cover the surface of the brine with hot paraffin to form an air-tight cover.
To make strong brine: One pound salt, 2 quarts water. Stir until salt is entirely dissolved.

SAYS HE'LL DIE IF SENT TO THE FRONT

Honest Slacker Admits That He Has a Streak of Yellow.

TUMULTY GIVES GOOD ADVICE

On the Other Hand One Comes From a Family of Fighting Irish and Will Go to Any Extreme to Get Into the Army—Some Humor Relieves the Tension at National Capital.

Washington, worried by war and weather, pacifists and prohibitionists, contractors and conscripts, slackers and suffragists, aviators and alarmists, food and firearms, loans and liabilities, taxation and talk, the cabinet and congress, has not enjoyed a good laugh in a long time, or, rather, felt in the mood of indulging in one. Here and there, however, the development of war preparations has brought to the surface incidents that show that American humor is not to be suppressed, even by grim visaged war.

There is, for instance, the case of young Mr. X., who took his troubles to the White House and related them almost tearfully to Mr. Tumulty, the secretary to the president.

"I am a slacker, Mr. Tumulty, and I just can't help it," said young Mr. X. "I can't fight, and I know it. It isn't here," pointing to his heart. "I couldn't hold a gun in hand and shoot a man, and I would run like the dickens if anybody shot at me. If they grab me and put me in a trench I will just die, that's all there is to it."

Has Been Drafted.

"Have you been drafted?" asked the president's secretary, with solicitude.

"Yes," replied the honest slacker, "and I've got a feeling that they're going to nail me."

"Oh, I wouldn't be too sure about that," said Mr. Tumulty consolingly. "You look to me to be a little bit under the prescribed height."

"No; that's where my hard luck comes again," said young Mr. X. dolefully. "I'm just a half inch over."

"Oh, well, they'll find something the matter with you," reassured Mr. Tumulty. "How about your general health?"

"Not a chance," mournfully said the honest slacker, wiping perspiration from his brow. "My health is fine. Honest, Mr. Tumulty, there ain't a thing the matter with me except I am afraid. I tell you I can't fight. I wake up in the middle of the night and see myself under a pile of dead men, with the cannon blatting all around and every bullet coming my way. It isn't that I don't want to be a soldier, but I just haven't got the goods; that's all."

"Well, what do you want me to do?" asked Mr. Tumulty.

"I don't know. I just want you to get me out of it some way. I thought maybe you could drop 'em a note telling 'em to stick me in some place, counting cans of beans or signalling up in the Rocky mountains or something like that so long as it's as far away from the firing line as possible. I just can't fight and I know it."

Mr. Tumulty's Advice.

"Well, I'll tell you what you do," advised the president's secretary. "Just write a frank statement of your case to the exemption board of your district and they'll let you off."

"No; I don't want to do that," remonstrated young Mr. X. "Because if I do all the boys and girls I know will get on and hand me something worse than the kaiser's bullets. I thought maybe you had a place around here handy that I could fill. How about running errands for the president or doing something like that, where I'd be safe?"

The case of young Mr. F. of an Ohio town furnishes a study in military psychology. He applied for admission to the training camp for reserve officers "because he looked well in uniform" and some of his girl friends "dared him to get into the army." He got in and is in a fair way of being promoted to the grade of first lieutenant.

Less than a month's discipline, however, has taken all the martial spirit out of him, and for three weeks he has been pleading to officials of the government by telegraph and letter for permission to quit. The report of his superior declares that he is fitted in every way to be a suitable officer, and the indications are that he will continue to "look well in a uniform."

The case of Mr. K., who comes from a "family of fighting Irish," shows that he has inherited the spirit of his tribe. Starting nearly four months ago, young Mr. K., whose home is in Massachusetts, has been turned down by the marine corps, the army officers' reserve corps, the aviation sections of both the army and navy, the signal corps, the quartermaster's division, the Red Cross and a college hospital unit.

The chief objections to the fighting Irishman are that one of his lungs is bad, his sight is not good, he has varicose veins and has hardening of the arteries. All this has been made quite clear to young Mr. K. by impartial medical examiners. But, bless your heart, it hasn't discouraged him the least bit, and he has been the soul of optimism, determined to "beat my way into the game some way." He is willing to go anywhere, fight anybody, so long as he is not compelled to serve in a British regiment, so strong is the ancient prejudice of his clan.

Russia's Strong Man a Leader of Great Force

With the ascendancy of Kerensky to almost supreme power in Russia the affairs of that nation seem to be on the most stable basis achieved since the revolution. As premier and minister of war and marine he is in a position to make the most of Russia's great resources. So far as at present known he appears to have the confidence of the many conflicting elements of the newly formed government.

Alexander F. Kerensky was the leading figure in the group which effected

the establishment of the new government in March. He was the first member of the duma to tell that body that the czar and the dark forces in the government must go. It was on his initiative that the executive committee of the duma was formed. Kerensky was born in Tashkend, central Asia, in 1882. His parents were poor, but through the influence of friends he was enabled to enter the University of Moscow. When graduated he began the practice of law and soon became a leader of the revolutionary element. He is a man of medium height, active and alert. He is described as possessing courage, high mindedness, presence of mind and ready tact. As an orator he has few equals anywhere.

Ways of Making Apple Ketchup and Preserves

Apple Ketchup.—Quarter, pare and core twelve sour apples. Put in a saucepan, cover with water and let simmer until soft. Nearly all the water should be evaporated. Rub through a sieve and add the following to each quart of pulp. One cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of cloves, one teaspoonful of mustard, two teaspoonfuls of cinnamon and one tablespoonful of salt, two cupfuls of vinegar and two grated onions. Bring the ketchup to a boil and let simmer gently for one hour. Bottle, cork and seal.

Apple Conserve.—For each pound of quartered and pared apples allow one pound of sugar and half a pint of water. Boil sugar and water, add apples and simmer until clear. Take up apples, lay on plates and dry in the sun. Roll in sugar and pack in tin boxes lined with wax paper.

Apple Chips.—Cut eight pounds of sweet apples into pieces. Don't pare; add four pounds of sugar and one-fourth of a pound of Canton ginger. Add sugar and ginger to the apples, let stand twenty four hours, add four lemons, cut into small pieces, rejecting seeds. Cook slowly three hours. Put into glasses or jars; cover with paraffin.

Preserved Apples.—Quarter and core apples, fill an earthen crock two thirds full, cover and bake slowly for several hours. Seal in air tight jars. When ready to use stand the jar in a kettle of water and heat.

Mother's Doll Story

Polly's Cracker.

Once upon a time there was a little boy who had a rag doll parrot.

This Polly had a yellow body and green wings and a blue tail. And every time anybody went near her Polly would cry out, "Polly wants a cracker."

One day the little boy and Polly were out in the back yard building a fort in the sand pile. They worked very hard in the hot sunshine. The little boy dug, and Polly brought armfuls of sand till at last the fort was so high that they could hardly look over the top of it.

Then something happened. They both got very hungry, indeed. It was still a long time before luncheon. So what do you think Polly did?

She flew up on the fence back of the fort, and when an old man came walking past she cried out, "Polly wants a cracker!"

"Bless you, take the whole bag!" said the old man, delighted with Polly.

So he gave his crackers to Polly, and she flew back to the fort and shared them with its little builder.

INTERNED ALIENS ARE WELL TREATED

Have Comfortable Quarters Near Hot Springs, N. C.

OBEY ALL THE CAMP RULES

No Trouble Has Occurred, and None Is Expected—Are Well Fed at a Cost of 50 Cents a Day Per Man to the Government—Cooks From Interned Liners Prepare the Food.

Prisoners from an enemy land may be ill treated in some countries, but not so in the United States. The Germans interned at Hot Springs, N. C., thirty-eight miles west of Asheville, in the heart of the Blue Ridge, live in comfort and eat their fill at a hotel which the United States has leased. The building is set in a hundred acres of shaded lawn. The alien guests are 100 officers and 500 members of the crews of German merchant ships held in American ports when the European war began.

Surrounding the property is a four foot wire fence, patrolled by khaki clad men armed with pistols and badged as "watchmen." Fence and guards are chiefly to keep out curious Americans, not to keep in the Germans. If any German thinks of escaping, which probably none of them does, the unwisdom of such a course is suggested by long, lean mountaineer hunters, who pause at the fence to stare with impassive faces at the foreigners.

A month ago the Germans were taken to Hot Springs from Ellis island and other immigrant stations. They are officially designated as "detained immigrants," aliens who had not chosen to take up residence in this country prior to hostilities with Germany and are not now eligible to do so. Six hundred more are going as soon as quarters now building are completed.

No Trouble Is Expected.

"What will you do if they make trouble?" was asked of the director of internment, Alfred Hampton.

"Why answer that until there is trouble?" he countered.

There has been no trouble. The Germans obey the few rules imposed on them. They answer roll call at 9 a. m. daily and take part in a fire drill. Then they are practically free, within the grounds, until taps sound at 11 p. m. They are practically on the honor system and are allowed to make rules for their own guidance through a number of committees. They work when they work and play when they play, idling but little. A massive, broad shouldered coal passer who was seen looking for a four leafed clover was as attentive to his task as if he were seeking a lost diamond. The chief officers have organized classes, and daily instruction is given to petty officers and common seamen in mathematics, navigation and languages.

"In three years all these men will have the technical education necessary to command a ship," said Mr. Hampton.

Squads run through military setting up exercises daily. Some of the men work for the government, including fifty ship carpenters being engaged in the construction of the new barracks, and others are employed as day laborers. The pay ranges from $20 to $30 a month. A number of the men work in the seven acre tract, where a fine crop of vegetables is growing, and others find diversion in their own little garden plots. Agriculture appeals to most of the interned men, but not many of them know all there is to know about plants. Most of them are from the seaboard and have had little experience in the fields. One captain has a little plot, outlined with white stones, in which he is cultivating beans and corn. A large and prosperous jimson weed which the poor man thinks is some American vegetable sprang up from a former planting.

"I did not notice that thing until it was half grown," explained an official, "and now I haven't the heart to tell the captain it is a rank weed."

Build a Miniature Village.

By the riverside the officers have built a village of miniature rustic houses, using tree limbs and roots, stones, odds and ends of material found on the hotel grounds. One house has panels of old matting. There are seats and tables, but no steins.

The prisoners are allowed to receive newspapers and other reading matter and, subject to the station censorship, to write and receive letters. About thirty members of German officers' families have come to the village of Hot Springs, and these the officers are privileged to receive for an hour each Sunday. They can see them as often as they wish, the families coming to the fence, but no conversation is allowed except during the Sunday hour. Few visitors are allowed to inspect the station, and they are not permitted to speak to the Germans except by way of salutation in passing. The Germans do not salute the Americans in charge, although they generally speak in salutation. The watchmen are not supposed to talk with them.

"But the rules don't say we mustn't listen to them talk," said a guard off duty. "It wouldn't be any use to tell these folks anything anyway," said he, "because they wouldn't believe you. They say the Americans have never repaired the ship engines they damaged. They say it can't be done outside of Germany."

CONTRIBUTORS TO NEWARK HOSPITAL

Some time ago a victrola was installed in the nurses residence of the City Hospital. The nurses and the following friends contributed toward the payment of the victrola: H. L. Darrow, Dr. C. K. Essington, Dr. W. B. Nye, Dr. C. E. Evans, Dr. H. L. Postle, Dr. G. W. Sapp, Dr. H. J. Davis, Dr. Carl J. Dillon, Dr. J. T. Barbottle, Dr. H. P. Martin, Mrs. Ruth R. Leibo, Miss Susan Ramey, Miss Frances Lees, Mrs. W. P. Meyers. It was paid in full recently through the contributions of Patrick J. Gorley, Joshua Hull, Eli Hull, Dr. L. G. Downs, Dr. C. E. Evans, Dr. J. T. Barbottle, Dr. C. K. Essington, Dr. Victor Turner, Dr. W. J. Kennedy, Dr. Lewis Mitchell, Dr. H. J. Davis, Mrs. Ella MacDaniel, Miss Beulah Swisher, Miss Edna Loomis, Miss Muriel McMahon, Miss Evalyn F. Betsch and Mrs. Kate Roe. A tennis court and a croquet ground have been provided for outdoor exercise. The victrola adds much to the pleasure of the indoor off duty hours.

The nurses appreciate all that has been done for their pleasure and comfort. There still remain a great many things for interested and kindly disposed persons to do. If they could be persuaded to overcome their timidity and muster up enough courage to approach the proper persons all necessary information regarding the matter would gladly be given.

The school of nursing maintained by the hospital has been making progress under the present supervisor who is a graduate from Columbia University. The school is recognized by the Ohio State Medical Board.

The people should be interested in the school to feel some pride in its progress. They should be willing to grant such support that that pride would begin to swell. They should realize that the better the school the better the graduate and the better the service rendered.

Since war was declared the whole world has appreciated the fact that there was such a carefully selected well organized body as the Red Cross. This organization is made up largely of trained nurses. Thousands are enrolled. Perhaps more will be needed. Why shouldn't a community be willing to support its hospital and school of nursing in such a way that it would be possible to graduate the right kind of women? As days go by more will be demanded both by the state and the nation.

A community is proud of its soldiers. Why shouldn't it be proud of its noble patriotic women? Why shouldn't it be willing to do all in its power to fit them to take their places with the best in the land? It is worthy of thought. Give it a little.

Recently an awning contributed by Dr. Essington was placed at one of the large windows with a western exposure. The window was unshaded and the hot summer sun poured in all afternoon.

Last month the Ladies' Aid Society of the Second Presbyterian church hemmed thirty-three operating room towels. They also furnished the material for and made twenty-seven napkins, a bureau scarf, two tray covers and sixteen patients' gowns.

Miss Reels' class in the Sunday school of the Second Presbyterian church hemmed nine operating room towels.

This last month the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Hospital hemmed sixteen operating room towels, made eleven operating room gowns and two patients' gowns.

Sleepy Time Story About Some Interesting Insects.

SET TRAPS FOR THE UNWARY

How One of These Creatures Caught a Prize That He Was Very Pleased to Get Rid Of—What Happens When the Clouds Pour Down Rain.

Well, said Uncle Ben to Little Ned and Polly Ann, I am going to tell you about

WEBS IN THE GRASS.

This morning while I was walking in the field I saw in the grass the tents of a bold robber band.

I thought I heard Mrs. Fly say as she flew by me: "There are those spider webs stretched out on the grass. Well, the spiders won't catch me this time. It was very kind of Fairy Dewdrop to sprinkle the webs with drops of water so that we may see them and keep out of trouble."

But as it got warmer the drops were drunk up by the hot sun and went sailing up into the sky to make clouds. Then unless you had sharp eyes and looked closely you could not see the lacey tents, which were, after all, traps in which the sly spider hoped to catch dinner, breakfast and tea.

One spider caught a little brown skipper butterfly. As soon as he felt the web shake from the struggles of the insect up he darted through his funnel shaped stairway and pounced upon the butterfly.

Once a big brown wasp came buzzing across the garden and in flying too near the ground struck a spider's web.

The minute the spider saw what he had caught he was so frightened he was most ready to run downstairs again, but he feared for his precious web. It had taken a whole hour to spin it.

So the spider hurried to the edge of the web and began cutting away the threads that held the prisoner.

In a minute the wasp was free and dropped to the grass. Soon he was able to fly away, and then the spider came out of his hole and mended the broken web.

But the little dewdrops that had gone up to the sky and joined the nice big clouds must have told tales, for after awhile the clouds rolled over the sky till the sun was hidden, and a host of big raindrops came pattering to the ground.

They battered at the spider webs till they were torn to bits, and the spiders crawled away into holes under stones or in the ground, waiting for the rain to stop.

And, of course, there was no supper for the spiders and no breakfast the next day, for it kept right on raining.

But as tomorrow promises to be a sunshiny day perhaps you may notice whether they have set their traps again in the grass.

A Fine Sand Fort.

WATCHING THE ENEMY.

With the aid of a discarded life buoy the young soldier in the picture has constructed a fort in the sand. The enemy must be in front of him, as he is intently watching something in the line of his vision. No fear that the enemy can approach the fort without being seen. Keen eyes are guarding every approach. The fort cannot be surprised.

Queer Bodies.

Ears have they, but they hear not—cornstalks.

Arms have they, but they hug not—windmills.

Tongues have they, but they talk not—wagons.

Legs have they, but they walk not—tables.

Heads have they, but they think not—cabbages.

Noses have they, but they smell not—pitchers.

Lips have they, but they kiss not—tulips.

Teeth have they, but they chew not—saws.

Your kerchief ready if you please.
Then turn your face and screen your nose
Before the cough or sneezer goes

LATEST MODES.

New Autumn Frocks Even Have Names.

It is not difficult to make a snap prophecy at what the new French gowns will incorporate as special features when one hears some of their names.

Kerensky and Pershing are the names to be given to two new coats; Brusiloff, Verdun, Petain, Victoire and Louvain are others, and among these it is rather interesting to see Peter Pan and La Tosca.

It is said that the highlander's costume is still a source of delightful inspiration to the French designers, and that they will not relinquish the idea of plaited skirts, checks and tartan plaids, curious shoulder draperies and short, belted jackets.

Another bit of information about the new fashions concerns the linings of coats. Last spring the French introduced colored linen as a substitute for silk in the jackets that belonged to suits. This autumn they will introduce corduroy. A buyer who has just returned from Paris says that this corduroy is called a trench lining, but one who is "fed up" with stories of the trenches and their communicating roads might say that the name corduroy indicated the road over which the "trenchers" have to come and go.

One is quite sure that France will adopt something from the uniforms of our army, to which she has been giving such happy approval during the month. The milliners will have an excellent chance in the picturesque hat which our troops wear, and one has already arrived in this country made of satin and velvet. It may be, however, that the American woman is too familiar with the swaggering brim and punched in crown to warrant an expensive milliner making an appeal with it to her purse.

No doubt the Frenchwomen will adopt the hat with enthusiasm. Surely the milliners will find an easier sale for the attractive and rollicking hat of the United States troops than they did for the French marine cap and the queer hat of the Grenadier guards.

The poncho, the sombrero and the Pershing overcoat may become rivals of the Russian boot, the Cossack cap and the Algerian skirt.

ABOUT PLAYTHINGS.

The Great Value of Letting a Child Amuse Himself.

[Prepared by the Kansas state board of health.]

Play material of a sort which best pleases children is at hand in nearly every home. The baby often finds more pleasure in a string of empty spools or a few clothespins than in the rattles and balls which have come from an expensive toyshop. As the child grows articles and materials at hand will, if properly utilized, give the greatest joy. All sorts of paper may be used for folding and cutting or for scrap books. Magazines furnish a wealth of pictures to cut out or to paint.

Wooden boxes make stores, doll houses and forts, while chairs and tables readily become horses, steamboats, stages and a thousand other things by the use of a little imagination. Old cotton cloth torn into two inch strips and sewed together end to end will make yards of reins, enough to drive the coach and four which is so easily created out of the dining room chairs.

When toys are to be bought or made for children they should be the material out of which the child may construct his own amusements rather than something which he is merely to watch. It is a well known fact that many of the expensive mechanical toys are discarded after a brief acquaintance or ruined in the attempt to find out what makes them go, because the child wants to do something rather than to be amused or entertained. Among the mechanical toys, however, railroads and trains of all sorts have a perennial joy for all small boys, because, with the tracks in sections and the different kinds of cars and engines, they are able to construct their own systems according to their own ideas.

Toy figures and toy dogs, cats and other animals lend themselves readily to many uses. All sorts of vehicles, such as wagons, carts, tricycles and carriages, garden tools, small brooms and carpet sweepers and all sorts of articles for doll housekeeping are adapted to play in which the imaginative element is most important. Books and drawing, sewing, writing and building materials all have their place, and many of these are at hand in every home.

Smart Fads.

Japanese embroideries are seen even on sports coats of jersey.

Girdles made of beads are a pretty addition to the straight frock.

Ecru tinted Irish lace is to be seen on afternoon and evening gowns.

Georgette crepe combinations are trimmed with bands of liberty satin.

Long blouses suggesting smocks are made of sheer handkerchief linen.

Princess slips to wear under lingerie dresses are made of pink organdie.

Fabric Gloves.

Fabric gloves have gained a great vogue since the beginning of the European war. One sees women wearing them for all but evening occasions.

Some of the fabric weaves are so fine and so cleverly made that one cannot tell them from suede at a short distance, and they are shaped to the hand with a care that was never before bestowed on this kind of glove. Gray is most effective, as are some shades of suede and tan.

The more children a woman has, the fewer fads she has concerning them, fits.

A KINDERGARTNER

How One Woman Got Legislation Under Way.

FROM MAINE TO THE WEST.

Mothers and Clubwomen of Five of the United States Have Already Succeeded In Getting Better Laws For Early Education Passed.

During the past few years mothers and clubwomen all over the country have been growing more and more alive to the need of more kindergartens, and this year they have been successful in five states in getting better kindergarten laws passed.

The women of Maine, Texas and Washington have the greatest cause for rejoicing, because their new laws authorize school boards to open kindergartens when parents petition for them. By having the matter regulated by law mothers and fathers in these three states will now have some guarantee of success when they ask to have a kindergarten started in the public school in their neighborhood.

Miss Nellie Brown of the Federation of Women's Clubs was largely responsible for the success of the legislative campaign in Maine, but it is safe to say she could have done nothing without the support which she received from the clubwomen and kindergartners of Bangor and from the kindergarten children themselves. A number of these tiny tots drew, colored and cut American flags for the 182 senators and representatives of the state. Ten of the children were present at the hearing on the bill before the education committee and sang "America" and saluted the flag. As they turned to march out there was a volume of applause, and when the room was again quiet the chairman of the committee said, his face wreathed in smiles, "Miss Brown, I guess you've won your hearing."

In Texas both the Congress of Mothers and the women's clubs were influential in getting their law passed. Under the leadership of Mrs. Griffith of the federation and Mrs. Steere of the congress a sentiment for kindergartens was aroused all over the state. The result was that when it came time to think of introducing a bill the state superintendent of education framed it and college presidents and professors were glad to speak in its behalf.

This wealth of public support not only made it easy to put the bill through, but is now helping the Texan workers in their efforts to put the law into effect.

Mrs. George W. Steere of Fort Worth, Tex., was at the forefront of the work in her state to obtain a good kindergarten law, and the governor's signature to the bill was hardly dry before she was launched on a campaign reaching from El Paso to Galveston to interest parents in petitioning for classes.

Some of the arguments she used successfully with legislators were:

The early years are the most impressionable, and in a wise educational system these years should not be left unprovided for.

Little children are given a good start not only in school, but in life, through the excellent training which the kindergarten gives.

The majority of parents who want kindergarten training for their children cannot afford to pay tuition at private kindergartens.

The kindergarten is democratic in that it brings educational advantages to all children before any must leave school to go to work.

Vegetable Coloring.

A very dainty green color for candies or icing is quickly obtained from lettuce leaves. Simply macerate the leaves between saucer and spoon and add the juice to the cooking sugar until dark enough. This has the advantage over spinach as a coloring agent of being obtainable at all seasons and is not so expensive as the liquid vegetable color.

To Remove Chewing Gum.

Should you happen to sit down on a piece of chewing gum do not try to scrape it off and risk spoiling your skirt. Simply take a piece of ice and hold it tightly over the gum for a few minutes. This hardens the gum and causes it to crumble. It may then be brushed off with no injury to the cloth.

Clothes don't make a man. Some fellows are subject to fits, some to misfits.

DANGERS THAT MENACE BEAUTY DURING SUMMER

Sunburn and Wind, Most to Be Dreaded; Tan and Freckles Easily Removed.

Every woman can weather the summer and come out looking as pretty as before, provided she has taken summer precautions to protect the delicate skin of the face, neck and arms.

Common ordinary buttermilk with a good, pure cream with many a woman fulfills these precautions. Buttermilk, though you may not know it, quickly removes tan, freckles, sunburn and other skin blemishes. But since it is not always obtainable, and is mussy and troublesome to make, you will be glad to know that the ready-to-use preparation called "Howards" Buttermilk Cream can be obtained at any good drug store by simply asking for Buttermilk Cream. It must be applied freely to produce best results. No matter how poor the complexion, the skin soon becomes absolutely spotless, with the bloom of youth that only nature (in the form of buttermilk) can give.

Buttermilk might well be called a beauty food, and the woman who has refused to indulge in such so-called "Vanities" might well be excused for using it since buttermilk cream actually ministers to her well being as food and bathing do. Be sure you get Howards Buttermilk Cream—it's made from true buttermilk. T. J. Evans.—Advertisement.

SHEET MILL MAN SAYS WRITE ME FOR THE FACTS

John Flaherty Tells How Nerv-Worth "Put Me on My Feet."

The high value of this entirely new signed endorsement strikingly appears in its closing words:

"ANYONE WANTING ME TO VERIFY THIS STATEMENT, I WILL CHEERFULLY DO IT BY LETTER OR IN PERSON."

Now read the entire remarkable array of facts:

"I want to tell everybody about the good Nerv-Worth did me. I had a severe attack of the grippe, which left me in a nervous and weakened condition. I was so nervous I could not sleep and get any rest. I was unable to work and was in bad shape. All run down. Had no appetite. Stomach in bad condition. I purchased a bottle of Nerv-Worth and before I had taken one-half of it, the nervousness left me and I could sleep soundly and get rest. I regained my vigor and today am in excellent health. I am employed in the Whitaker-Glessner Co's sheet-mill and never miss a day now. Nerv-Worth certainly put me on my feet. Anyone wanting me to verify this statement I will cheerfully do it, by letter or in person.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Fully realizing the extreme high cost of everything used in the home, we had hoped to maintain our present schedule of prices which have been in force for several years. Owing to advances in the cost of labor and all materials we use we are compelled to make a slight advance in our prices beginning September 1st.

We assure the public that the advance is an absolute necessity so that we can continue to give our customers the same quality, work and service as heretofore.

In justification of these advances we give below a few items showing our advance in cost of production.

Gasoline, 120 percent; coal 150 percent; bags 125 percent; boxes, 100 percent; paper, 100 percent; soap, 100 percent; dry cleaning soap, 100 percent; chloroform, 267 percent; wages, 20 percent; auto supplies, 30 percent; printed matter, 50 percent, etc., in fact everything except water.

After Sept. 1st the following prices will be in effect until further notice:

|---|---|
| Men's suits | $1.60 |
| Coat and pants | 1.35 |
| White pants | .75 |
| Cool Cloth | 1.25 |
| Overcoats | $1.35 to $2.00 |

AMUSEMENTS

AUDITORIUM.
Tonight.

The Auditorium today offers another most pleasing program in which the photodrama is headed by three stars Charles Gray, Margery Wilson, and Margaret Thompson, "The Honorable Algy" is the Triangle feature and the Mack Sennett two reel comedy "His Busted Trust" is the laugh getter. Mr. Ray is so well known to picture fans and by the way he is soon to appear on the Paramount program, for he has signed a long time contract with that company. In "The Honorable Algy" he is seen as a Beau Brummel and is the younger son of the venerable English house of Monteith, who comes to America with his heart upon his sleeve to catch an American heiress and so retrive the family fortune. Much of the action has to do with the theft of a marvelous diamond necklace on shipboard while Algy is coming to New York from his native London. The necklace is stolen from the safe in the purser's office, and is the property of the heiress Algy would like to marry. The Honorable Algy is a photoplay that will please all, written by J. G. Hawks, directed by Thomas H. Ince. As an added feature today the Mack Sennet comedy with "Slim" Sumerville, noted Keystone comedian "His Busted Trust," will be seen. In this he is given ample support by Bobby Dunn and Peggy Pearce, both known for their cleverness. This program is seen today only, for tomorrow pictures give way to that musical comedy "The Dew Drop Inn."

"Dew Drop Inn."

"East by Way of the West," is a phrase which might be used in commenting upon "Dew Drop Inn," the new musical comedy in three acts which comes to the Auditorium for a matinee and evening performance next Saturday. "Dew Drop Inn" is the work of three well-known New York writers of musical comedy, namely John E. Hazzard, Percival Knight and the composer, A. Baldwin Sloane. The piece was first brought out in Chicago last spring and has finished an all summer's run at the Illinois Theatre, Chicago, where it achieved a large measure of success. The central figure in "Dew Drop Inn" is "Boney," an Englishman by birth, a crook by inclination, but an honest man through force of circumstances. This droll character will be impersonated by the distinguished British comedian, Mr. Percival Knight, well known in America by reason of his splendid performances in such musical comedies as "The Arcadians," "The Dollar Princess," "The Quaker Girl," "Veronique," "Go To It" and "Nobody Home." In Mr. Knight's support will be found an exceptionally talented company which includes Winona Winter, prima dona soprano, Arthur Aylsworth and Roy Keith, comedians, Florence Morrison and Bliss Milford, character comediennes; Maurie Malison, dancing specialist and Paul Dullsell, Charles Meyer and Banks Winter, character actors of ability. Numerous handsomely costumed girls will be very much in evidence in "Dew Drop Inn," for like every musical comedy, this one requires an exceptionally clever chorus. The seat sale is now on and it looks as if Newark show goers realize that they have something good coming, for a good sale so far is being had. The prices are within reach of all, for Manager Fenberg personally arranged with the management to have prices that fit all pocket books. Take a tip see "Dew Drop Inn" tomorrow.

Lots of Special Scenery.

Manager Fenberg received a wire from Robert Farrar, Manager of "The Dew Drop Inn" Co. from Marion, Ind., where the company played yesterday, to be sure and arrange with transfer company to have enough wagons to haul six loads of scenery and 50 trunks, also to have the large trap with steps built and finished by time of arrival of company Saturday morning. The averaged layman cannot realize what the above means—6 loads of scenery, means two special 60 foot cars and the trap mentioned, is a special one that must be built in all theatres, means taking up half of the stage floor and requires a full force of stage hands to help make the trap. Twenty-five men are required to work the attraction, this is besides the regular company crew, which consists of 6 men.

Newark show goers tomorrow have a chance to see a real big city attraction—one that usually does not play the one night stands and it is hoped that they will turn out and show their appreciation of the management in bringing this attraction to Newark.

Shell 43.

H. B. Warner, Triangle star, has a great part in "Shell 43" the photoplay that is to be shown at the Auditorium Sunday next. It is a gripping story of the present war. Warner having a part of the man of mystery. He is close to the German front, bearing the credentials of an American war correspondent. Also, it appears in the opening chapters of the story, that he has documents admitting him to the innermost councils of the German army organization. There also appears reason to believe that he is an English spy, risking his life among the Germans, who have more than a suspicion of his identity. He is seen holding secret conferences with both sides and he is apparently trusted by each, but the German's for a final test, release an English spy, who has been a prisoner of war, with instructions to flee to Warner for protection. And so the story runs—but you must see "Shell Forty-Three" for it may be conservatively said to be one of the most stirring productions with tense dramatic moments that has so far been offered Sunday amusement seekers. As an extra big added feature the Fine Art Players offer a fantasy in black and white called "Puppets" a comedy that is a scream.

The Tanks.

Manager Fenberg of the Auditorium will show on next Monday and Tuesday five reels of motion pictures taken at the battle of Ancre by official British photographers. Parley J. Fairall, local piano man, had the pleasure of seeing these pictures at Richmond, Ind., a few week's ago and when he heard they were to be shown here he wrote Mr. Fenberg the following letter, stating it was his privilege to witness the production of "The Tanks at The Battle of Ancre" in Richmond, Ind, and I have no hesitancy in saying that it is far beyond anything in this line that I have ever witnessed and you are to be congratulated in being able to bring them to Newark. The pictures are wonderful. Several times I caught myself gripping my chair with both hands, completely lost. I never dreamed that war is such an awful thing. In the picture Red Cross ambulance corps men are shown rushing out over No Man's Land, picking up wounded men in spite of deadly sharpnel fire. In some parts of the picture the camera men, with the aid of telescope lenses, obtained views of the first line German trenches. The monstrous tanks are shown leading a company of bombers across No Man's Land, and later, the triumphant return, Ancre having been taken. The sides of the crowler are dented from heavy rifle and machine gun fire, and several of the crew have been hit by bullets that found their way inside. As the men, sober faced, crying and others limping, move along in front of the camera, they make a brave attempt to appear cheerful. Another interesting feature of the picture is a small black kitten which rides inside of one of the tanks wit hthe men.

It surely is a wanderful picture and I am surprised that the camera could catch some of the scenes I saw in "The Tank at The Battle of Ancre." I sure will see it again when it appears at the Auditorium next Monday and Tuesday."

This feature is presented through the country by the War Relief Fund of which W. K. Vanderbilt is President and part of the proceeds go to this fund.

ALHAMBRA.
Tonight and Tomorrow.

Picturesque Marblehead is the scene of portions of Viola Dana's Metro wonderplay, "Aladdin's Other Lamp," to be seen at the Alhambra tonight and tomorrow. This delightful production, presented by B. A. Rolfe and directed by John H. Collins, has been adapted by June Mathias from Willard Mack's play "The Dream Girl." "Patsy" Smith, the little drudge at "The Fisherman's Rest," Mrs. Duff's boarding house for sailors, takes refuge from her dreary work in wanderings over the rocky cliffs. Here she meets the knight of her dreams, Harry Hardy, the grocer's boy, who is trying to be like Abraham Lincoln.

Sunday.

"Light in Darkness," an Edison release is a story of modern times, but deals with a phase of life that has existed almost since the beginning of time. It vividly describes the way in which two innocent persons suffered for the sins of others, perhaps, because they were the weaker. The story sparkles with tense dramatic situations and is combined with a touch of humor.

"Light in Darkness" features Shirley Mason, supported by an all-star cast. It is released through Kleine-Edison-Selig-Essanay and will be offered at the Alhambra theatre Sunday.

DR. BREEZE PLEASES LARGE AUDIENCE AT C. E. CONVENTION

"And the southern wall of our lives are like the young men and women without God, or rather like a huge mountain steam engine, sidetracked without steam up, no earthly good, but should that selfsame engine have steam in its boilers it could pull a hundred cars up the most perilous and steepest of mountain trails."

Dr. Moses Breeze last night before the Christian Endeavor convention spoke at the First Presbyterian church on "Building a City", and breezed through with true Welshy witticisms.

In his talk, Dr. Breeze compared a city built in the olden times and surrounded by four big, strong walls to protect it from attacks of all sorts.

There was the southern wall called spiritual, the northern wall called the moral, the western wall called the physical and the eastern wall called the mental.

"In the days gone by a man was usually called by what he ate, instancing, a man who ate pork was called a—you can readily imagine the rest." This excerpt showed the idea of the eastern wall.

"I would unhesitatingly put my wife out would she ask me after taking a long walk whether I was tired. That physical wall is one if not the most important of the four walls.

"I have two small children at home and if during the night they start to cry, I turn over on one ear and sleep. Always have one 'tin ear.' The same applies to a young man in a crowd when some one of the other young men begin to tell a smudgy story, use the tin ear. That northern wall is very important."

The lecture was greatly enjoyed by a large audience.

DEBATE RESUMED BY SENATE TODAY ON WAR TAX BILL

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, Aug. 31.—The senate today resumed debate on the war profits provisions of the war tax bill under an agreement for a final vote on the bill itself not later than Monday, Sept. 10. The vote will be taken before it the debate should end sooner than expected.

The agreement also calls for disposition of the war profits section not later than next Monday and the income tax provisions by Sept 7.

As a result of the agreement the petition for cloture filed on Wednesday, has been withdrawn. When the senate convened today, Senator Smoot, the republican member of the finance committee, was ready to resume his speech in opposition to Senator Bankhead's substitute which provides for a levy of 75 per cent on war profits, based on capitalization of 20 per cent and over.

Senator Harding of Ohio opened today's debate with an argument for caution against too drastic conscription of wealth. He urged that taxes be levied which would not cripple business, deplete reserve strength of the nation and its ability to carry further loans. The war, he contended is not popular.

"There are scores of contributing reasons," he said. "We are sincerely devoted to peace, the campaign cry of the year before our involvement and was dwelt upon in studied oratory from every stump. We are polyglot people, without racial entity. Our free republic is full of aliens. We have many who cloak themselves in American habliments, but their souls, genius and cunning are loyal to the land from which they came. We harbor trained propagandists whose business is to spread sedition. We have plotters and bomb planters and wholesale murderers. We have the anarchist whose creed is destruction. We have the greedy and the profiteer in every walk of life. And we have not been clear in our reasons for making war. It would be well to say less about world wide democracy and let it ring clear that we mean to hold America safe for Americans. We are not fighting to fix the international boundaries of Europe."

If necessary to win the war, Senator Harding said he would conscript every dollar of income over $5,000 to a family.

"But if you strike at excess profits you reduce incomes and are likely to hinder our industrial development," he continued. "There is no cause for penalizing. Were it not for munition plants and for big and highly organized American industries, Germany would today be dominating the world. Conscript incomes and profits and we shall have no one to buy our bonds. We are raising larger taxes in the first year of the war than Great Britain in her third. The war is likely to end and I believe will end before the burdens we are now levying are turned into the treasury. We may well co-operate to strike a staggering blow at the enemy but need not strike ourselves at the same time."

NEW WORK ROOMS IN KING RESIDENCE FOR RED CROSS WORKERS

The new headquarters of the Red Cross society were opened yesterday for work at the O. G. King residence in Hudson avenue. The officers have been moved from the Arcade and they occupy the reception hall of the former home, and this part of the building is open all the time.

The surgical dressings are made in the parlor while in the former living room are made muslin bandages.

The dining room is used as the packing room.

By a new ruling women making surgical dressings are required to wear wash dresses or aprons and no coats are worn in this room, also the women doing this work are to wear regulation red cross head dress.

The entire building will be open for workers all day on Thursdays, and a plan is being worked out by which for an hour a day at least, the rooms will be open for those who have only a short time to work.

On Tuesday the different church and social organizations are to make reports, and on Saturdays all day the rooms are open for the counties to report their work.

There has been some delay in receiving the yarn for knitters, but it is expected soon, so that the work may be started.

More women responded yesterday to the call for workers, and it is hoped now, since the cool weather has started that there will be many women come to the new rooms.

Granville

(Special to Advocate.)

Granville, O., Aug. 31.—One hears frequently the demand for a complete roster of Granville and Denison boys who are now in various departments of active service and of those soon to mobilize. It is felt that this roll of honor should be published in its entirety and should be kept prominently before the people at home. The enlistments have taken place so quietly, the men going almost one by one, that the home people do not realize how splendidly the community is represented. The personel of the Second Ohio Field Hospital company which consists largely of boys from Columbus families, with over 60 per cent taken from Ohio Colleges, includes nearly a dozen Denison students, the list having been handed the Granville correspondent of The Advocate: R. W. Atha, J. P. Turner, K. Beck, S. S. Stock, J. S. McGruer, G. Baldwin, Russel Griffith, Arthur D. Inglis, E. A. Herr, E. Lamb, C. G. Anderson. The two last named have been transferred to Cincinnati.

Miss Bertha Frank entertained a company of young people in most charming fashion on Wednesday evening, August 26, at her home on the Newark road. The artistic decorations of the dinner table were in red and green and covers were laid for twelve; five couples from Johnstown. The evening's delightful festivities were concluded with a "box party" at the Granville Opera House. It will interest Miss Frank's friends to learn that she has accepted a position as director of Domestic Science in the New High school in St. Paris, and will leave this week to assume her duties.

This week's issue of the Granville Times contains a long and interesting tribute to Professor Irving S. Kull, formerly assistant professor of history in Denison university and at present instructor in history in the University of Chicago, who has accepted a position as professor of history in Pomona College, Claremont, California, one of the three strongest colleges on the Pacific coast. The article comments on the professor's strength as an educator and the loss which his departure will mean to Denison.

Other changes in the Denison staff will be the departure of Professor C. W. Henderson of the physics department, to the University of Syracuse, N. Y., where he will be associated with Dr. E. E. Lawton, formerly head of the physics department in Denison and Miss Mary Hunt, formerly university recorder and assistant to Prof. Goodell in the Registration office, goes to Franklin college as President Goodell's private secretary.

The engagement of Miss Dorothy McCann of Dayton and Mr. Russel Williams both former students in Denison, was announced some time ago, and their marriage will occur in October.

Arthur D Inglis who attended Denison a year ago, and is now enlisted in the Field Hospital corps, was in Granville this week, visiting his sister, Miss Anne Inglis, at "Greenwood" on the Newark road.

Miss Eva Robinson of Centerville street is spending a few weeks at Battle Creek, Mich., where she is taking needed rest and relaxation.

Information has reached Granville that James Sheppard, grandson of the late Thomas C. Sheppard of Granville, who served in the war of the rebellion, has gone to France as ordnance officer under Col. Wilson, a member of Gen. Pershing's staff. Mr. Sheppard is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sheppard of Grand Rapids, Mich., both of whom were Granville young people, Mrs. Sheppard having been Miss Louise Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Little of Detroit, Mich., formerly Miss Eleanor Colby of Dayton, are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter, born Sunday, August 26, at the old Little homestead in Norwalk, O.

The Epworth league will give a lawn fete on the grounds of the Methodist church, Saturday evening.

Rev. E. D. Barnes of the Presbyterian church, who spent his vacation in motoring to New York and New England, has returned home, much benefited by his outing. Mrs. Barnes and the children will remain awhile longer at the home of her parents in Verona, N. Y.

Dr. and Mrs. Millord Brelsford and sons, have returned home after a visit with their parents, in St. Paris and Coshocton.

Mrs. M. D. Henderson of Kansas City, Mo., formerly Miss Dora Loar, who visited Newark and Granville during commencement time, writes that she has been dangerously ill since her return home, but that her strength is returning slowly.

Mrs. Harry Rittnauer who is visiting friends in Granville, has gone to Chillicothe to visit her husband, who recently enlisted.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Slack, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Kier and Mrs. Fenwick Ewing are on a motor trip to Ada, Lima and other points.

Dr. Worth Brown of Johns Hopkins University, who graduated from Denison in the naughts, has accepted a contract commission in one of the Maryland camps as expert examining physician, probably with the commission of First Lieutenant.

W. P. Ullman, the popular druggist, is spending a few days visiting friends and relatives in Loudonville, his old home town.

Ready Today! New Fall Styles in Cornell Jr. Suits, for Boys Just Changing from Knicker to Their First Long Pants

$10.00 $12.50 and $15.00

Months ago we prepared for this display of Cornell, Jr. Suits in the new Fall Styles—we contracted for them before prices had risen to their present high level—so you will find a truly wonderful array of models, fabrics, colors and patterns, and—values that positively can not be duplicated.

By reason of the special scientific treatment of the collar; the shaping of the shoulders, armholes, sleeves and waist; by reason of the perfect adjustment of the length and sweep of the coat and trousers, a Cornell, Jr. Suit absolutely avoids giving a boy that embarassing, awkard appearance so often apparent with the first long pants suit. Newest belted back, belted all around, and military models; all beautifully tailored. Sold by us exclusively—

SOLDIERS' MEDALS

The Advocate acknowledges receipt of a contribution from Mr. G. W. Brown to the soldiers and sailors medal fund. Four hundred bronze medals have been bought and paid for. Nearly 300 have been delivered to Newark and Licking county men who are now in the service. As the drafted men will number 342 it is evident that about 200 more medals will be needed. The medal fund today amounts to $[illegible].

Editor of The Advocate: My first mail from old Licking brought me the beautiful bronze badge, of which I am proud and for which I appreciate the kindness of The Advocate and the contributors to the Badge fund. Such thoughtfulness as this toward her soldiers and seamen and knowledge of the fact that our home folks are doing their bit to down the Kaiser and overthrow autocracy give the boys at the front a feeling of pride toward their county. I am, very sincerely, Herbert D. Emswiler, 5th Infantry Co., Ft. Benj. Harrison, Ind.

Editor of The Advocate: Received your letter also the little medal O. K. I was sure surprised, for the idea is a novel one to my knowledge. I think old Licking county is the first to spring it, because mine was the first to reach here. It sure made a favorable impression among the boys here. It might look to be a small thing but it helps a fellow when he knows the folks back home are with him. In regard to your request for other Licking county men who are in the service, I know of none here in my company, but will inquire whenever I get another chance to get to Fort Bliss. There may be some there. Thanking you, and the people of Licking county for the way you all stand by the boys who answered their country's call. I remain, yours truly, J. W. Stoepler, Ft. Bliss, Tex., Ambulance Co. No. 3.

Editor of The Advocate: I received your card of the 23rd inst. and beg to acknowledge receipt of same. I also beg to state that I am a unit of Licking county and would highly appreciate one of your medals which you are offering. My name was spelled right on your card and my home address is as follows: 123 Cottage street, Newark, O. Yours respectfully, Matthew M. McBride, Co. D, 36th Infantry, Ft. Snelling, Minn.

STRONGER MEN TAKE THE LEAD

They Have Nerves of Iron and Real Red Fighting Blood.

Vital force is the material from which leaders in all walks of life are made. it is well worth getting and holding.

The health and nerve of the athlete is what Nature intended every man and woman to have.

The blood of an athlete is pure and red, a strong heart pumps and drives it through his body. No wonder that every inch of his system is filled with energy and health, his nerves like iron, spirits high, hard tasks a pleasure and life one song of joy.

A leading doctor says: "Everyone should feel this way. That if you are not red blooded, are nervous, all run-down and on your last legs, for you to build up your blood and nerves with exercise, fresh air, nourishing food and Nature's great prescription, Phosphated Iron, a real blood and nerve-builder."

Then you will be there with vim and push to easily do the work that you now do on your nerves alone.

He also says: "Phosphated Iron feeds the blood cells with iron and nerve force, and that leading specialists are now using it successfully all over the country, that it has sprung into almost instant popularity with the better class of doctors as one of the few remedies they can depend on to produce results."

Special Notice—To insure physicians and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we put up in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to substitute any pills or tablets. Evans' drug store and leading druggists everywhere. (Adv)

BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS IN SILVERWARE

Many of the most beautiful designs of silverware are being shown this fall. The manufacturers have spent many years and much money in getting up designs for silver knives, forks and spoons. Some of these beautiful patterns are now being displayed at Yingling's Jewelry store, 6 East Park Place, and if your silverware needs replenishing you will find here a number of the most desirable and beautiful designs to select from. And the price is most reasonable considering the quality of the silverware this old established house handles.
